LINDA MARCHIN

Linda;

See - next year will mark our 4th anniversary. That's a long time to be friends. Who could forget all those fun times we had all because of a certain somebody (D.B.) and the stunts we used to pull on him. Do you remember the time in Perkins when we were there with Barb and I flipped the whip cream on that guy? That was a riot! What about that evening we took a truck ride to Sterling's in our P.J's at 1:00 in the morn? Let's not forget our classes at Jamestown. Print-Print-Print! almost as good as Lynne baby! Speaking of Lynn - she just happened to borrow Jim's putty knife. (Remember that [redacted] with? YUK!! [redacted] sure did Come on Baby - Come on! [redacted]' God - that's our secret!! (Don't bring that experience up!) Have we been to Eastwood Mall lately? Why do always somehow manage to [redacted]? Not only [redacted] was the problem, but we Couldn't even find the dammed car! We had a lot of good times together (and some bad ones too!) but that must end there. We have all summer & next year too. Good Luck with Ray (wowowow) even though you don't need it, cause Ray is great and so are you! Love always,

Mary Beth

to a real nice girl I met this year. Good luck with Ray. Maybe we can ride together this summer.

R.M.A. forever

P.S. Have fun riding.

Jim Dias

R.M.A.

Linda,

To a really nice and beautiful all around girl who I really like a lot. I've only known you for a short while, but from just talking to you and horseback riding with you I can tell you are a very warm and sweet person. I'd like to get to know you a lot better. So why don't you come right about 8:00 drop over and we'll go horseback riding. I work everyday until 8:00 Remember our volleyball team and the day we did go horseback riding and got stuck. Remember me because I know I'll remember you.

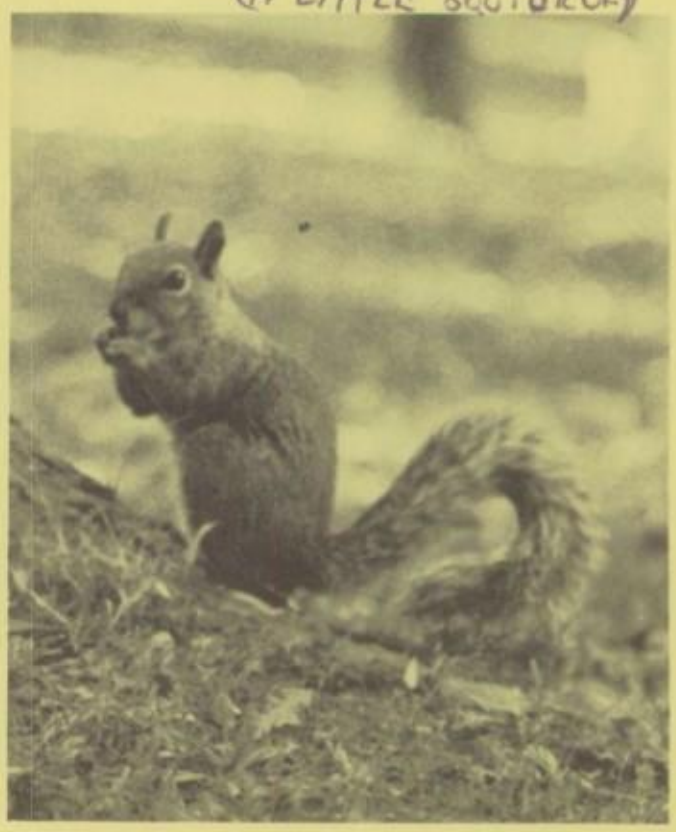
Love, Todd

Linda.

To a good lookin girl in H.R. who's half horse. I hope everything you do when we graduate is successful (horse college.) Remember Marty or try to forget her + all the fun times we've had gossipping in H.R. Well See ya next year

Love Karen

LINDA,
TO AREAL SWEET GIRL,
I'VE KNOWN FOR AWHILE
HOPE TO SEE YA AGAIN!
GOOD LUCK IN ALL YOU DO!
BE GOOD + BE KOOL!
LOVE YA,
KURT 77
(A LITTLE SQUIRLY)



Linda,

To one of the sweetest persons I ever met thanks for all the help you gave me when I needed it. Remember all the good times we've had, especially with Rai! Never forget when we rode down to Todd's house on the horses and when stupid itiotic me fell off of Rai. Well those were all of the good times we've had and I hope we ~~be~~ have alot more in the future. Good Luck with you know who and Rai. I hope that in all the shows you go to that you and Rai win thousands, and millions and billions of millions. Oh I just remembered something! The great Sadie Hawkins dance (HA, HA) what a good time we had, especially at Morgan's! You probably hope that you can just forget you ever went (Not that I Blame you!) But still those little stupid things that you want to forget are the memories that you'll always remember. Well Linda, hopefully by next Thursday I'll have Champ,
and we can always go riding somewhere,
I don't know where but we can always find somewhere. So let's keep in touch over the summer! Good Luck in all you do!

Love, R.M.A.

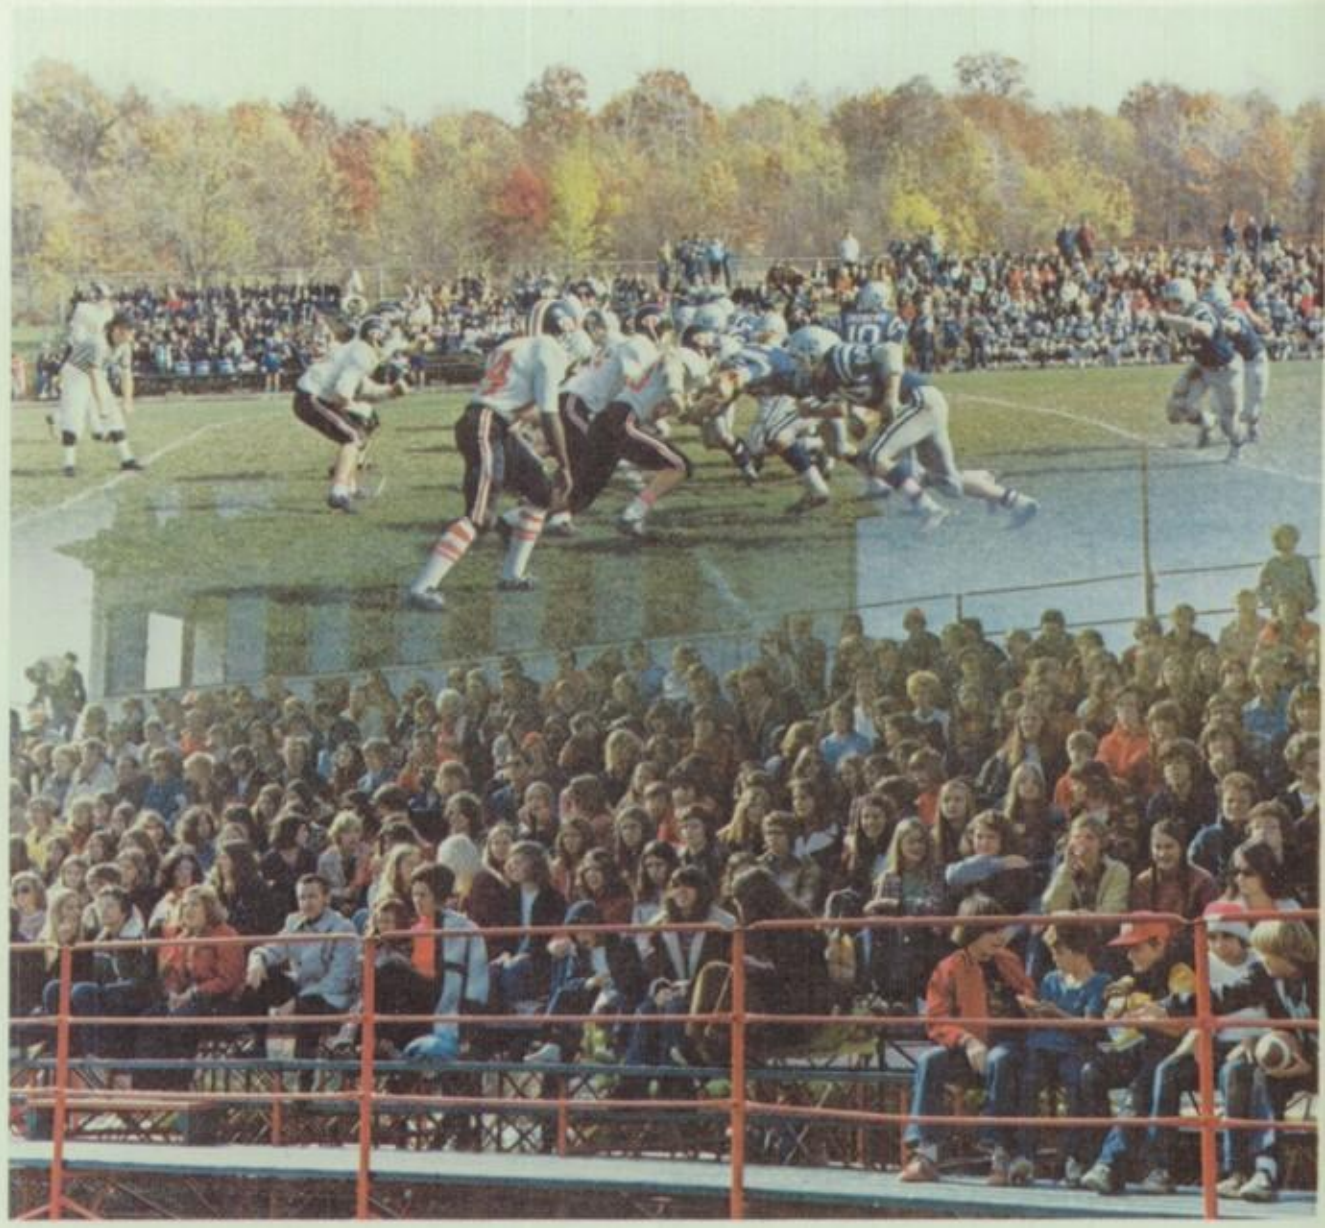
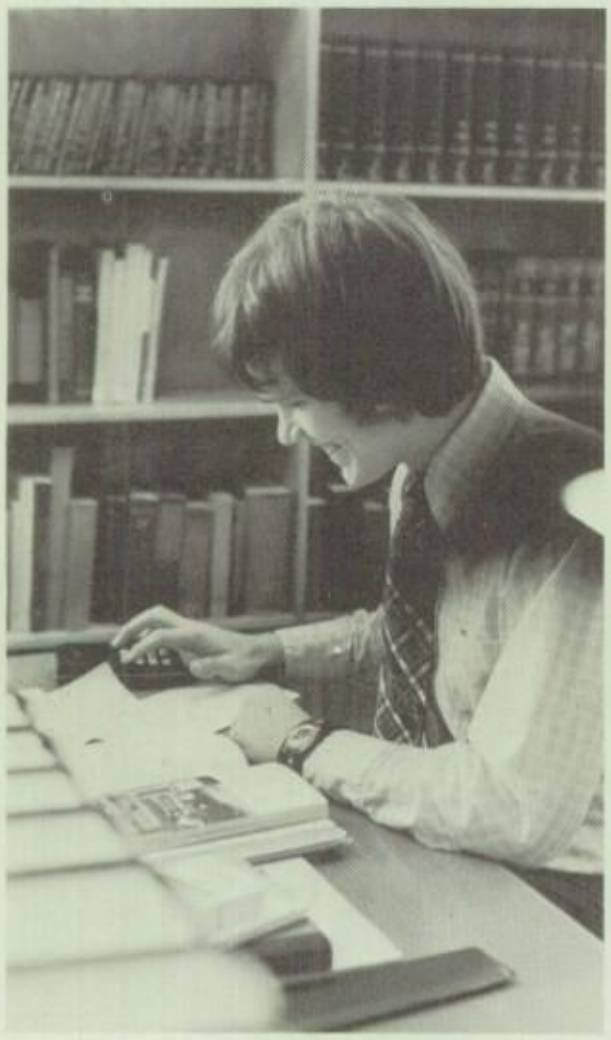
Excitement

A crowd, large but silent now. A ball round, brown and blurred, tossed upward toward the iron. Eyes drawn uniformly as it hesitates at height and drops? Sixteen arrives like an overdue letter. Nothing much. But suddenly: the card! It's here and we sit and muscles tense and at last we are turning . . . . the key. He. She. Uneasy you search and find yourself looking and thinking and all the time: Why? This is so strange. Uncertainty rips like razors through flesh but then eyes are together and light appears and you are filled, full with eight million watts and the realization: it is you.





Challenging

In one way or another, high school presents a challenge to every student. This ranges from one extreme to the other. Some HHS students find just coming to school enough of a challenge. Others look to academic achievement and sports skills for satisfaction. Challenge, like achievement, must be measured by the individual. Every person sets a goal for himself, and some wish to achieve to a greater degree than others. The important thing is to be challenged. One must never allow himself to quietly sit back and let the world pass by. For it is only through challenges that one finds achievement. What a person makes out of the many challenges presented by high school is a reflection of what he will do in later life.

to a really pritty girl. and I mean that. I can remember all the stupid things we used to do. I'd be too embarrassed to even write them. ha-ha. I can remember when you took me out to the barn and we rode horses. I remember last year in Biology how we both wouldn't touch whatever we were going to dissect. Its too bad you not in some of my classes (Medic gym.) Stay as sweet and as nice as you are and Beautiful is a word used to describe the good things in life. Its meaning is based on each individual's own feelings and thoughts. When we say, "Oh, that's beautiful", what do we really mean? To many, beautiful might mean a relationship that will endure forever. For others, it might be a scenic view of the leaves changing colors. But many times beautiful becomes an envious and jealous word. "Oh, if I could only do what she does!" "I wished I looked that good in my clothes." Nobody compares your whole self to any one else. Each one of us is unique in as many different ways as we are in shapes and sizes. Find your best and strive to make it better. Just take time to stop and look around you. How many beautiful things have you missed?

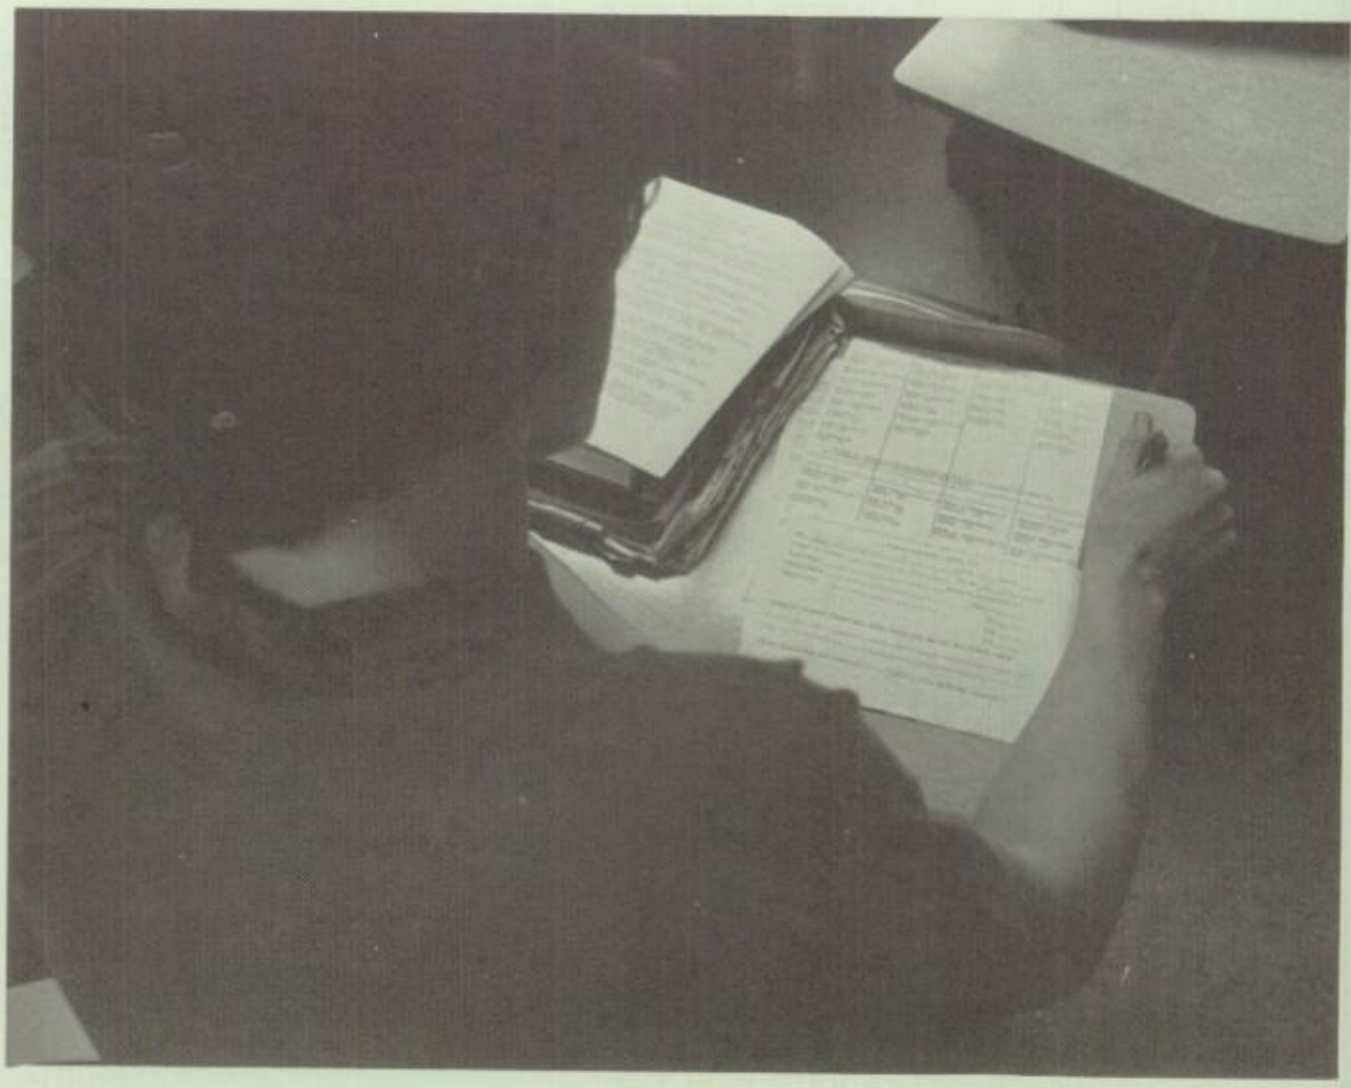
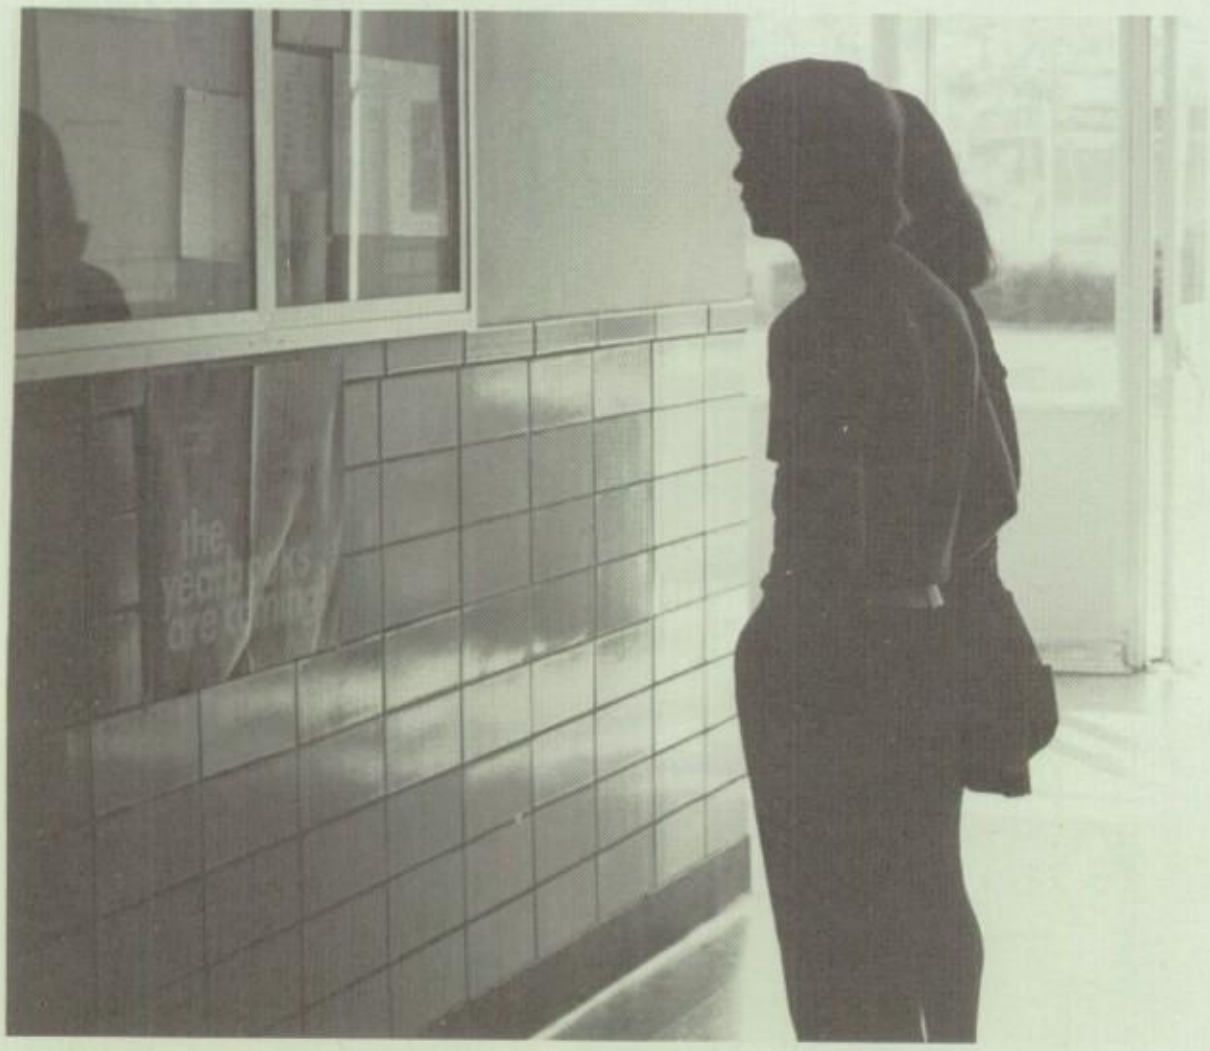
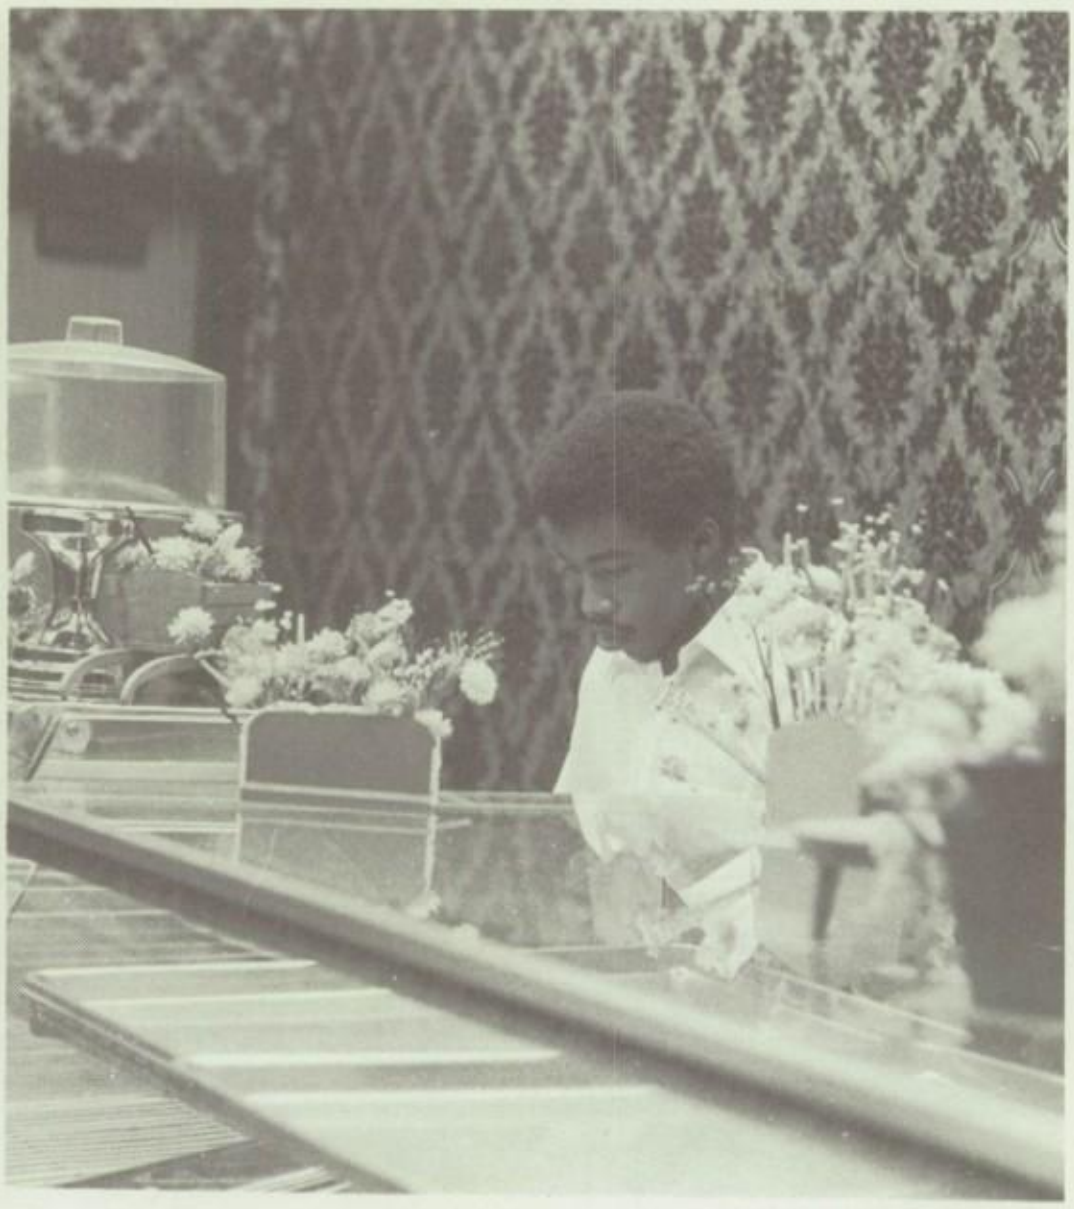
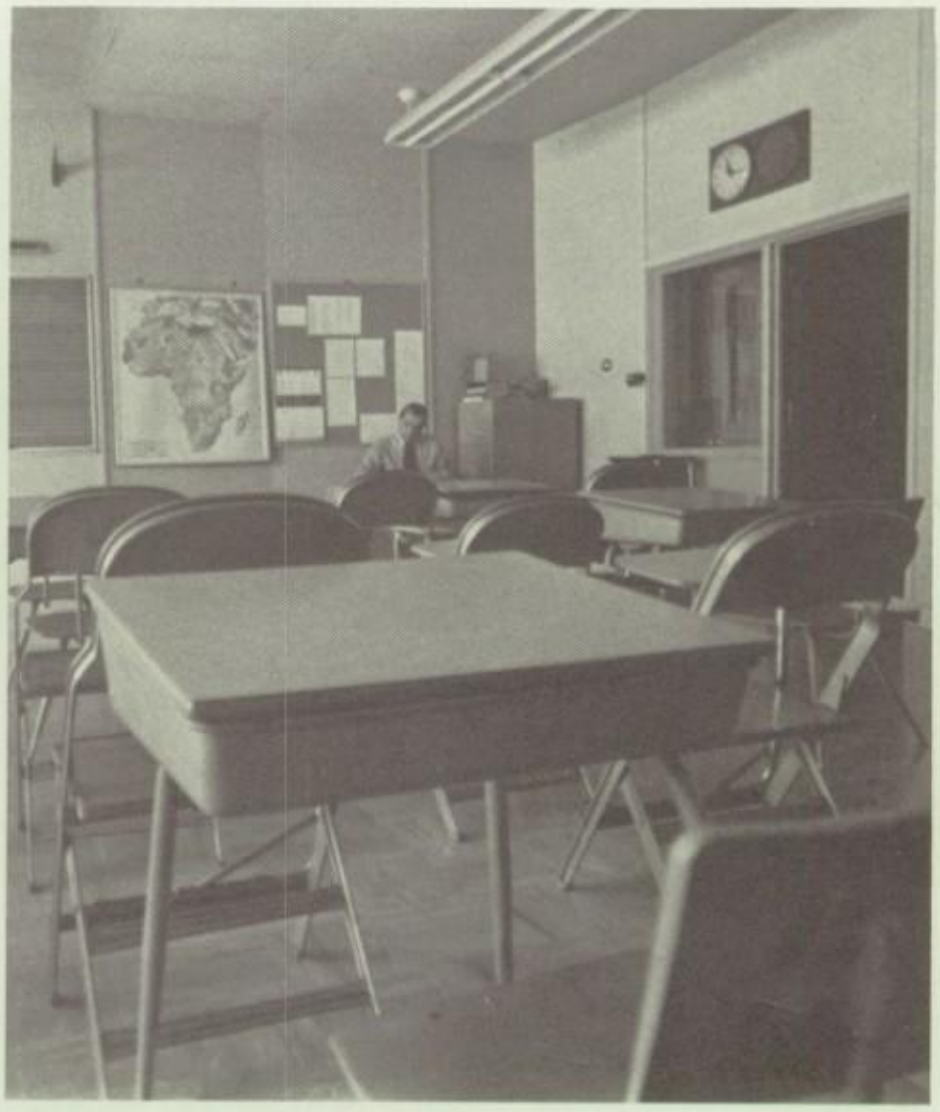
Changing

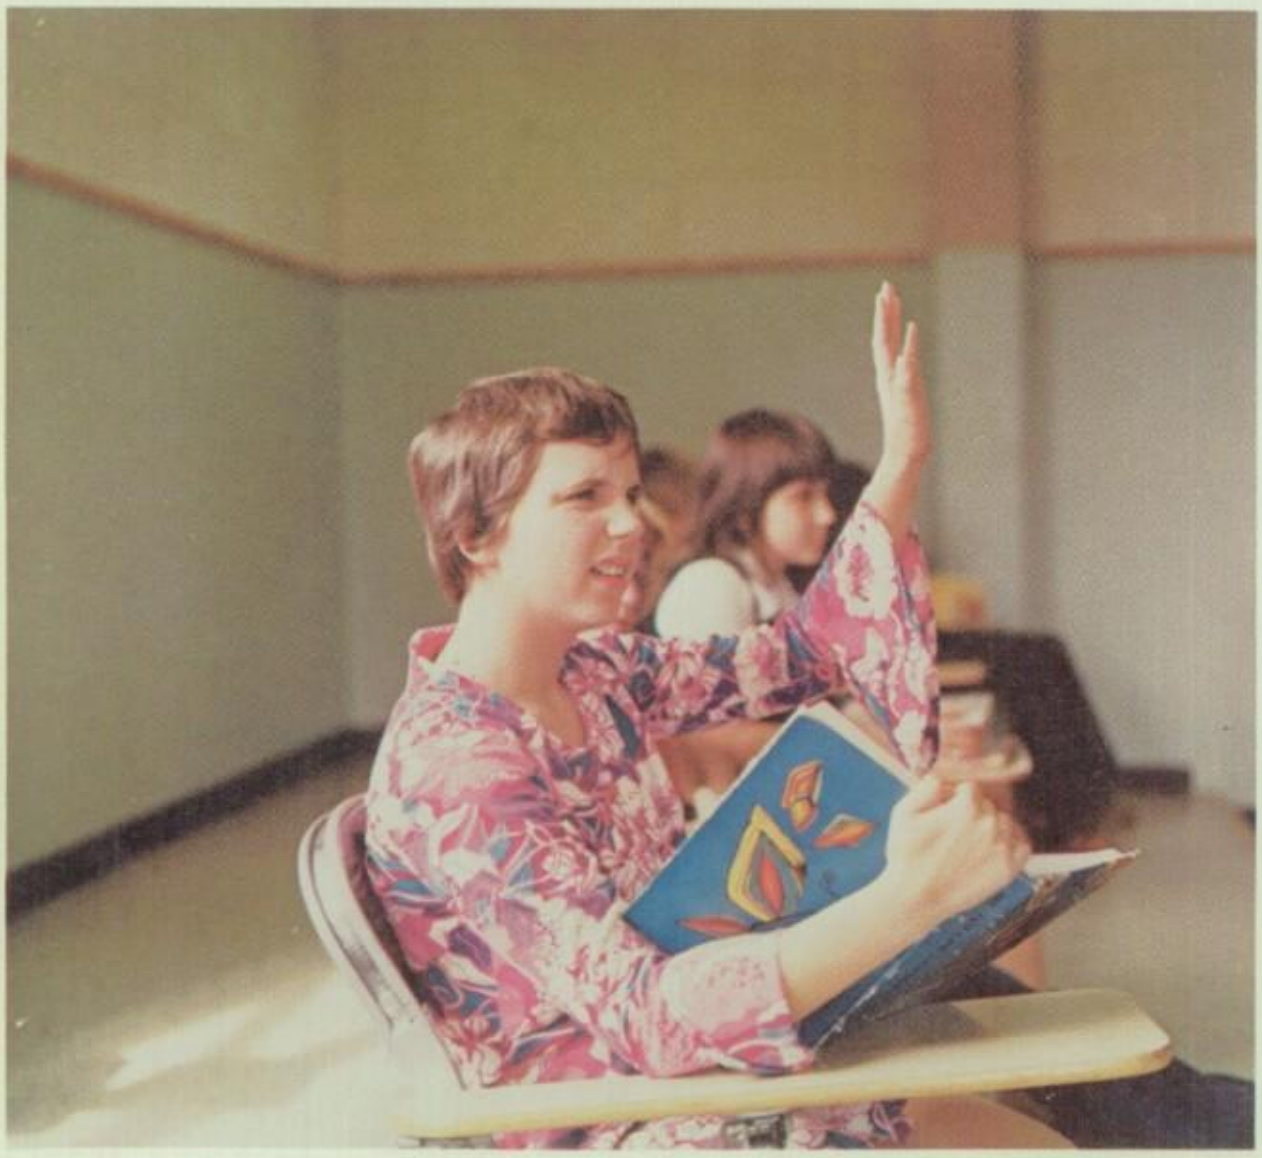
From the time a student enters high school, until he graduates four years later, he changes immensely. From a scared, confused, gullible freshman, to fun-loving, ruling senior. With a full schedule of classes, to leaving early for work, and spending spare time in the library. From hoping to represent the school in inter-scholastic sports, to receiving his letter jacket at the All-Sports Banquet. A physical change takes place as well as emotional changes as boys and girls start being attracted to each other. From an uncaring, irresponsible freshman to a senior who cares about life around him, and who must be able to handle responsibility in the outside world.











Confusion

In every situation we confront, we either know an acceptable response or we don't. If we have been in a similar setting in the past, we usually know how to act and do so without much anxiety. If it is a novel situation, if we have no keys to guide our behavior, the result is often: confusion.

At times it seems that these years as a student are especially difficult; it seems our lives make little sense. These thoughts are not necessarily "immaturity," which is more a cliché than an affliction. There are valid reasons for us to be confused: ourselves and our society.

In a world which is changing at an ever-increasing pace, we are at a point in our lives which is most marked by change. Change upon change. Coping with adolescence becomes increasingly difficult.

What are we? Adults? Children? At times we must be "adult": proper, responsible, free willed. At other times we remain a "child": frivolous, unsure, subject to the will of our parents. Is it any wonder we are confused?

It is this scenario which spawns conflict. Questions arise as to morality, lifestyle, the self. This is why we strive to be with others. This is why we crave for time alone. Confusion: the forces in conflict around us. We must come to deal with them, reconcile them, if we are to find happiness.

The senior year

In a unique way for each individual, last year's junior becomes transformed into this year's senior. In September he begins a year filled with a cavalcade of emotions. On the surface of his feelings, he is relieved that he finally has made it to his twelfth year and cannot wait to be set free. But if this same person were to look a little deeper into his lake of emotions he would find such feelings as pride, excitement, and also anxiety being reflected in him. Even though many '75 seniors deny having any pride for Hickory, there are many more who feel a sense of pride and loyalty to the school in which they have spent four years of their lives. Seniors also derive a sense of pride in their personal achievements. Whether it be a piece of artwork, a touchdown play, or a high test score, he achieves satisfaction in knowing he has created it himself.

Co-ed volleyball

"I can't believe it, a girl actually hit the ball over the net!"

This conversation could easily have taken place during one of the "friendly" co-ed volleyball games. The teams consist of a mixture of both sexes and are for senior classes only. From the first serve to the last spike, the game is filled with cries of victory and screams of frustration. Almost everyone enjoys and looks forward to playing, but some people have a few problems. Like the girl who always gets splattered on the ground by the guy next to her. Or the guy who painfully watches four girls run to hit the ball, and then let it fall in the middle of them!

The guidance office, with Mr. Currie's advice, is well-known to seniors as a source of helpful information concerning future plans.

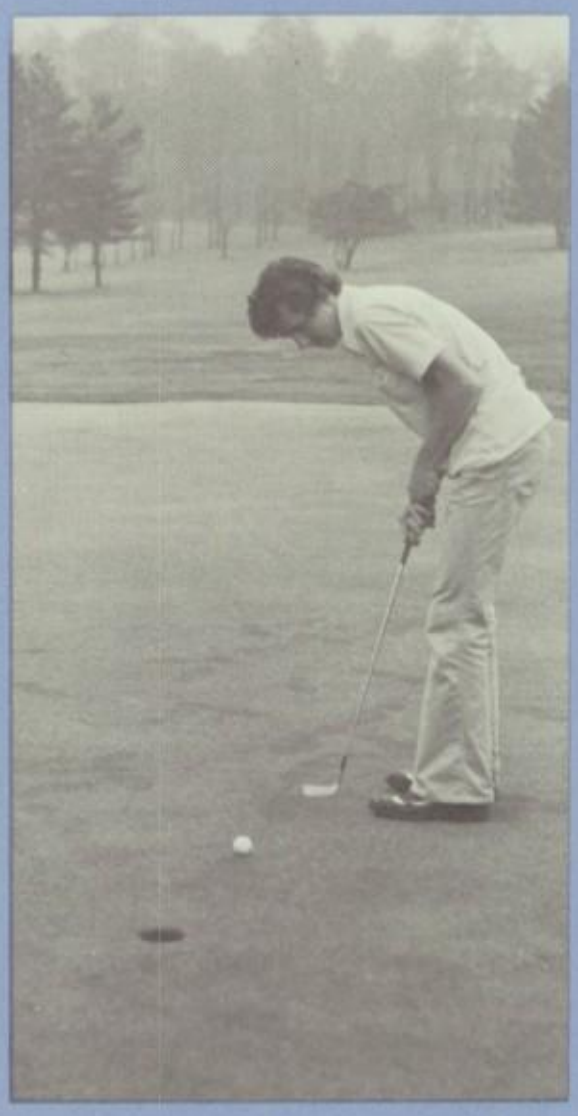
Sports



The 1974 football season was not a success in terms of scores. But the Hornet team learned the real meaning of determination and persistence. Long hours of summer practice built high aspirations as the team readied for the fall season. Tough scheduling brought the Hornets face to face with Franklin, Warren, and Greenville. After losing these first three games, Hornet revenge conquered the Grove City Eagles. Hopes of a winning season were defeated as the gridders fell to Oil City, Sharpsville and Reynolds. The Hornets then picked themselves up and prepared for the last two games. Success! Both Corry and Meadville provided dignity for the Hickory cause. The season ended with a 3-6 record, but as the saying goes, it's not whether you win or lose, but how you play it. In this, the Hornets were successful.

The basketball team had a slow start, as they were defeated by both Cranberry and Franklin. They first tasted victory in the Grove City Tournament where they overcame Erie East but lost to Grove City. The cagers were outscored by Meadville, but they won over Oil City, Rocky Grove, and Titusville. Defeat again came in the game against Warren but their hopes were again restored with victories over Corry and Cranberry. After a loss to Franklin, the Hornets outshot Meadville, who were undefeated at the time. That game inspired the team into winning over Oil City, Rocky Grove, and Titusville. After two more games the Hornets finished the season with a 10-6 record. Bogner and Reed were the outstanding seniors.

Hickory's 1975

Wrestling Team got off to a bad start by falling prey to Sharon, Howland, and Oil City. But the outlook brightened as Hickory pinned Meadville and Mercer. Commodore Perry found Hickory to be a tough match and won by only one point. The grapplers also failed to rally against Reynolds and Jamestown. Despite the fact that individually the bouts were tight, Greenville's team also proved too powerful. But, the Hornets wouldn't be discouraged; they retaliated and overwhelmingly topped their last three rivals. Glen Maxwell and Jim Teglo captured first place in the Lewistown J. C. Holiday Tournament. Glenn ended the year undefeated, and Tim Miller saw a 9-3 season.

Tryouts began in August for the Hornets '74-'75 Girls Basketball team, and what a team! Under the firm guidance of Miss S. Ward and Miss S. McKown the girls worked their way to the Mercer County Championship. Not only was discipline maintained on the court, but off the court, too. Curfew was 9 p.m. and grades had to be maintained. Apparently the hard work and dedication paid off as the girls compiled a record of 15 wins and 1 loss. They continued their quest for their first state championship in February.

Coach Rokita goes over race strategy with Lennie.

The Harriers retained tradition with yet another outstanding season. Under the guidance of new coach, Mr. John Rokita, the spikers began practice during the summer. The endless running paid off with a first meet victory over Franklin. Morale drooped as the Hornets fell to Titusville, but was restored with a win over Reynolds. The trackers then bowed for the last time as Neshannock outran them. Cutting loose, the Hornets sped past New Castle, Union, and Farrell. Then, catching their breath, they ran victorious against Grove City, Oil City, and Greenville. Reynolds and Sharon fell prey to the Hornet sting, also. The last scheduled game was forfeited by Grove City, thus ending the season with a 12-2 record. Now the spikers turned their attention to bigger and better things. Overpowering all other teams, the Hornets captured first place in the Mercer County Meet.

Despite the seemingly endless rains that called off game after game, the 1974 baseball team began its season. Under new head coach, Steve Garay, the Hornet athletes spent hours of practice on the diamond which eventually payed off with the coming of good weather. The team did not hesitate to get in the swing of things as they outscored Meadville twice in a double header and proceeded to roll over Jamestown. The winning streak soon turned as they suffered four consecutive losses against Sharon, Lakeview, Sharpsville, and Sharon again. The Hornet's spirit was regained as the team won over Jamestown for a second time and then both Lakeview and Sharpsville. They finished the season with a satisfying record of 7 wins and 5 losses.

As winter thawed, the 1974 boys' track team began another exciting season. Among the changes this year was the new coach, Mr. Dennis Driscoll, and the attitude he brought with him. The many exhausting hours of practice that followed payed off as the thinclads swept past Commodore Perry to build up a high morale. This was soon dampened as they gave way to Grove City, but the team sprang back with two successive victories over Reynolds and Mercer. The team finished second behind Titusville over Sharpsville in the following triangular meet. The tracksters leaped over Lakeview, but bowed to Greenville to end the season with a 5-3 record. As a result of a fine season, Len Krichko, Tom Herrmann and Eric Polansky went to State. There all three finished with fine performances.

Pushing for that extra effort, Rick Kifer just clears the high jump.

The gun sounds . . the race begins! John Bogner, in a burst of speed, heads toward the finish line.

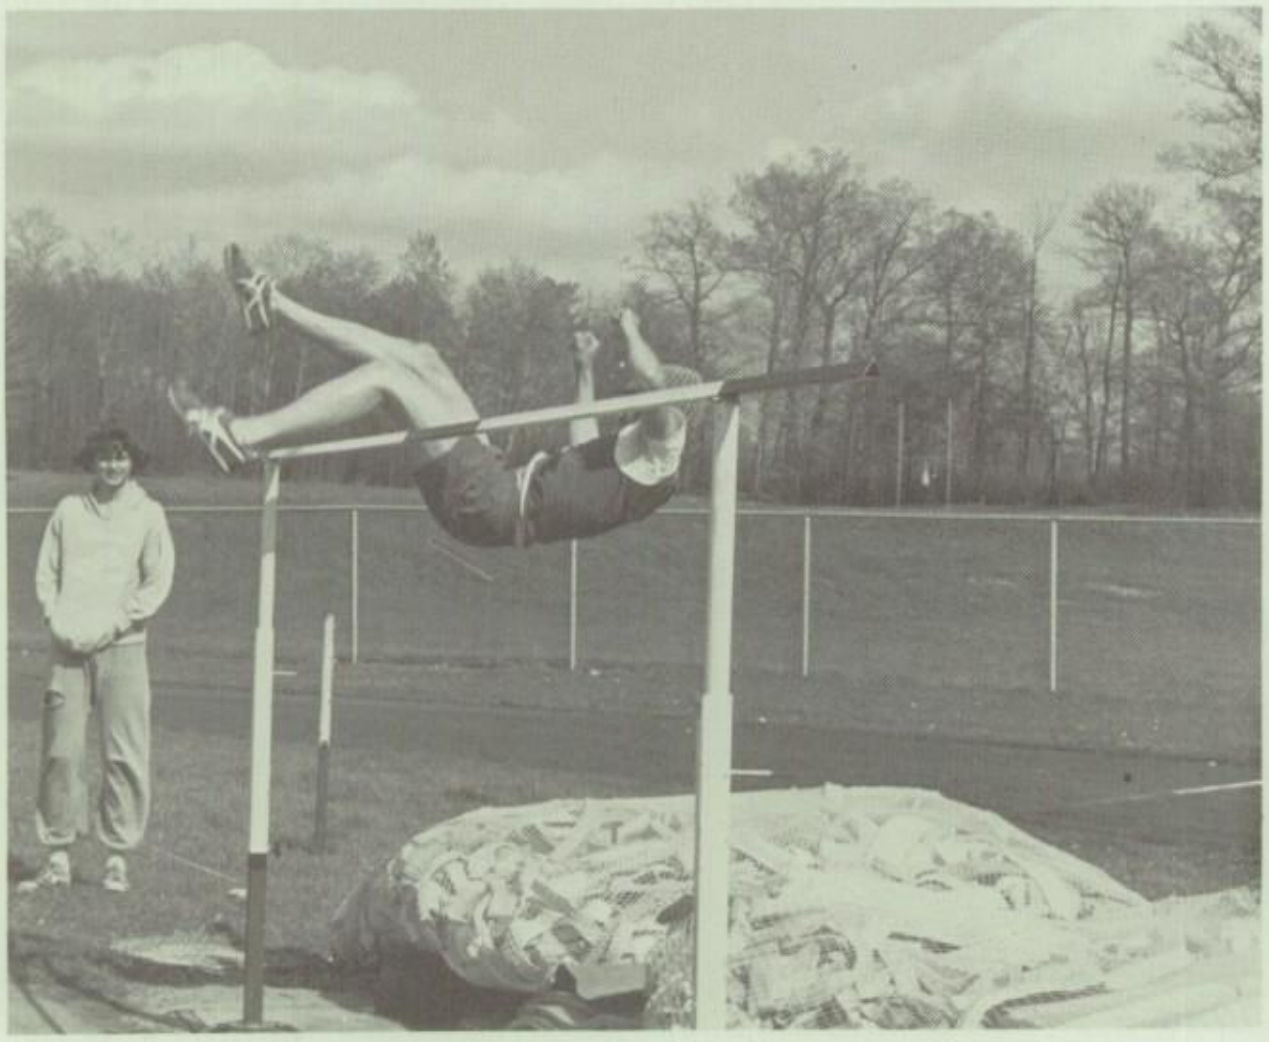
Keeping his eye on the shotput, Jim Kennedy follows through in style.

Len Krichko shuts his eyes in determination as he heads towards another win.



Push is the key word as this Hornet track star sails over the high jump.

Wayne calls on extra stamina as he begins another lap.

Preceding a track meet, Scott Malenky prepares for a fine finish in the javelin.

Louie Saltgiver bears the look of fierce determination as he looks to the finish line.

Long hours of serious concentration on the green payed off as the 1974 golf team teed off to another outstanding season. The hornets rolled over Kennedy Christian, Sharpsville, West Middlesex, and Mercer. Rivaling Grove City stopped us twice. The team also fell to Greenville to finish the season with a 9-3 record. Mark Yohman, an outstanding letterman, represented Hickory in the state competition where he finished fifth out of 150 participants. The Hornets finished second in Mercer County at the close of the season.

Coach Wooten gets into the action.

Bob Collins gets into the swing of things.

Bill Bell tees off for a long distance ball.

Gary Johnson lines up his ball for the final putt.

Ron Rice finishes this hole with a careful stroke.

Mark Yohman watches the ball as it falls to the green.

Coaches and girls alike anxiously awaited the new season. Hopes of state competition drove the girls to work harder and harder. As usual, hard work paid off. The girls opened with a win over Ursuline and continued their winning streak over Commodore Perry, Franklin, Farrell, Maplewood, and Grove City. Our first and only loss came from an overpowering Kennedy Christian team. Our girls charged back and thoroughly swamped Austintown-Fitch and Boardman. Then came districts; our girls took a hard fought second place. We gave a fair showing at the regional meet with five girls qualifying for state. Jane Clark, Pam Sopher, Sharon O'Hare, and Barb Hartsky all had fine performances along with Karen Kritchko who had a fine first place showing in the high jump. At the end of the season, the girls had broken nine school records and finished with an exceptional 8-1 record.

Jane Clark, Barb Hartsky, and Sharon O'Hare iron out the details of their next relay race.

Although Denise Mild appears to be sprouting from the ground, she has just finished her speciality, the broad jump.

Activities

Preparations took place before the traditional bonfire was lit, starting the 1974 Homecoming. The Homecoming queen and senior attendant were chosen as the result of a complete student body vote. Connie Burkhart and Karen Krichko were announced during an exciting pep assembly. Meanwhile, a group of determined Hornets put together a mountain of timber complete with a two-seater outhouse. Also in preparation, the Student Council sold pizza to raise money as sponsors of the dance. Finally, October 25 arrived and memories of the bonfire faded into the afternoon football game. Being faced with a tough Raider team, the Hornet gridders put up a good fight. Then the spotlight was on Connie as she and her court were honored at halftime. During the second half of the game, Denny Driscoll provided a thrilling moment for fans by making a 90 yard touchdown. But despite all efforts, Hickory lost its first Homecoming game in years. That evening, drooping spirits were lifted as couples entered the gym decorated with murals of graduating seniors. Blue Ash provided the music and Student Council furnished refreshments. Although the 1974 bonfire slowly burned down, flames of memories will burn in Hornet hearts for years to come.

Grab yo' guys, gals, Sadie Hawkins is here! A lot can happen between 8:01 and 11:01 on November 15. All can get hitched by good ol' Marryin' Sam and have a broom hoppin time gettin' down to the jivin' of Dennis O'Beele. We're expecting a good turnout-200 to 250 Lil' Abners and Daisy Maes will flock into the gym, even ones from vicinities other than ours right here and now. And if such an emergency comes up, you can make use of the newly built two-seater outhouse right out on the gym floor. The entire dance was put together by your very own Junior Tri-Hi Y, so you know it'll be a good one. This dance has been made so unforgetable, the memories will stick to ya' for the rest of your life.

Famous couples, from Popeye and Olive Oil to Antony and Cleopatra, were pictured on silver trees in the middle of the dance floor. Linda Dumas was chosen to reign as queen over the annual Sweetheart Ball. Her attendants were Maria O'Searo, senior; Violet Kolar, junior; Natalie Djakovich, sophomore and Denise Ceremuga, freshman. The ball, sponsored by the Sr. Tri-Hi-Y, was held on February 15, and benefited the Heart Fund of Mercer County. Approximately 80 couples danced to the music of Ocean. By the end of the evening, Cupid had touched the hearts of each and every couple.

After a vote

by the Junior class and suggestions by the school board it was decided to have the Junior-Senior Prom at Schuster's Restaurant in Greenville, the first outside prom. May 2nd finally came! Juniors spent the afternoon of the festive night changing the leisurely restaurant into an active gambling casino. Roulette wheels, dice, and cards created an atmosphere of daredevil and chance. Later that evening about 250 excited Juniors and Seniors crowded the newly built Monte Carlo.

A sit down dinner was provided while the Dave Killa Orchestra played. At midnight, Blue Ash took the stage and set the mood for After Prom; couples came alive, taking their chance on the dance floor. As dawn awoke, "Monte Carlo" faded away, and souveniers and memories are all that's left.

Dana Amsdell is given a surprise birthday party during the evening's festivities.

Silence fell on the auditorium as the conductor raised her baton. The curtain rose and the 1974 senior play, "Guys and Dolls" began. As the night progressed, it became clear that Hickory had returned the proud tradition of its musicals. Student directors were forced to look outside of Hickory High to find a music director. This position was filled by Miss Andrea Kley. Mrs. Alyce Parrish became the dramatics director. Next, lead roles were filled and rehearsals began. Under the watchful eyes of the student directors and Mr. Schiava, the play was transformed from a rough sketch to a finished portrait.

Administration strives for

Mr. Keith Stoner, superintendent, resigned after 29 years at Hickory. He began as a mathematics teacher and was the head basketball coach for 7 years. He then became the assistant principal at the junior high. In 1972, he took over the superintendent position.

"Hickory has been a great place and I enjoyed being here," he said. Mr. Stoner also feels that Hickory "has an excellent school system." When things got rough, the teachers strike for example, he carried through smoothly and efficiently, according to fellow administrators. His loyalty to the people around him and feeling for humanity were what were needed in the political society of today. He realized that his job was not purely business but it dealt with the feelings of men also.

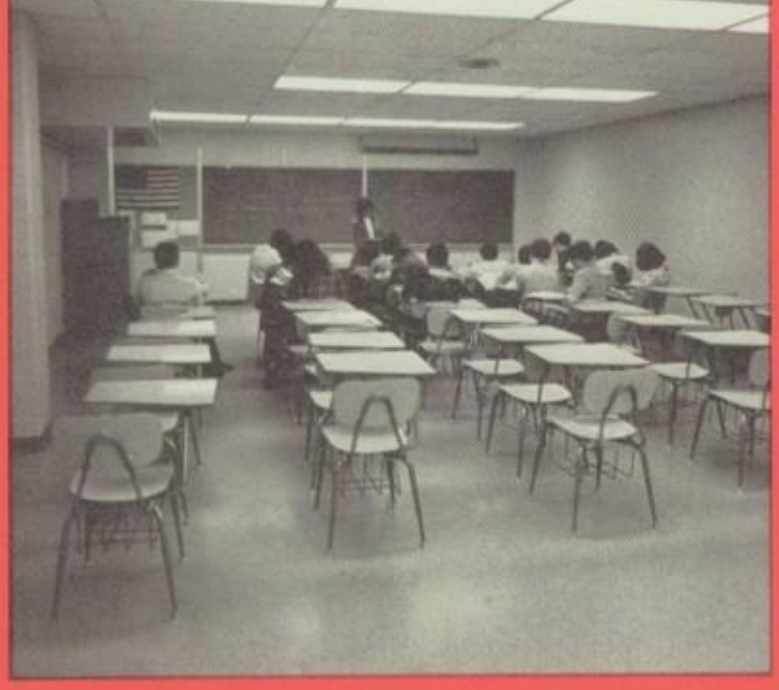
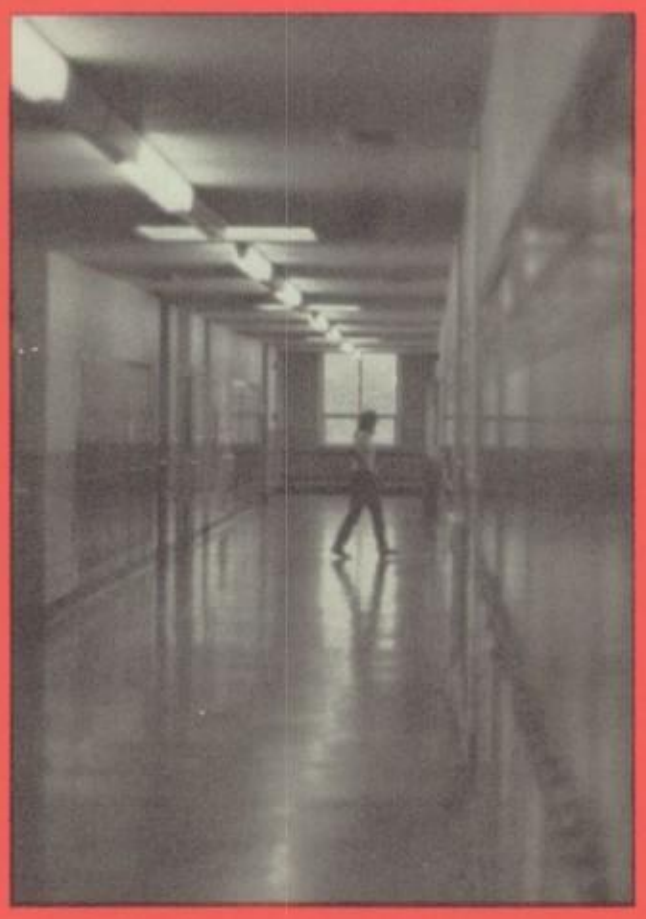
Student Life

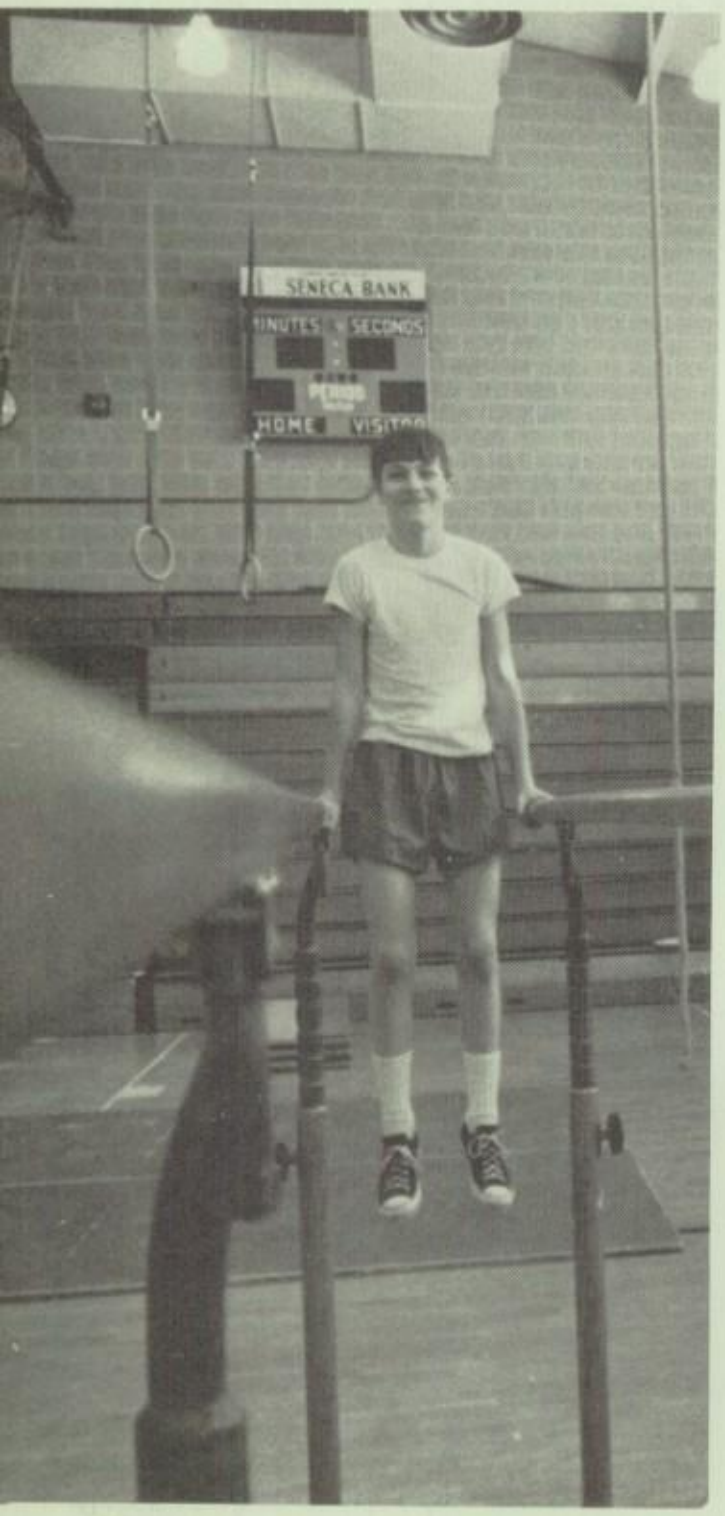




By combining talents and interests, HHS students are able to find satisfaction in their classes. Some like academic courses, such as science and math, while others gain fulfillment in the music and art departments. Many classmen discover practicality in their subjects. Seniors in clerical courses are able to obtain jobs through Mrs. Kulusich and cooperating businessmen. Vo-Tech students will also find employment in an occupation which they will enjoy. Although Hickory's students are diversified into different types of subjects, they are unified in expanding their interests and talents.

The first sign of school— checking out posted homerooms.

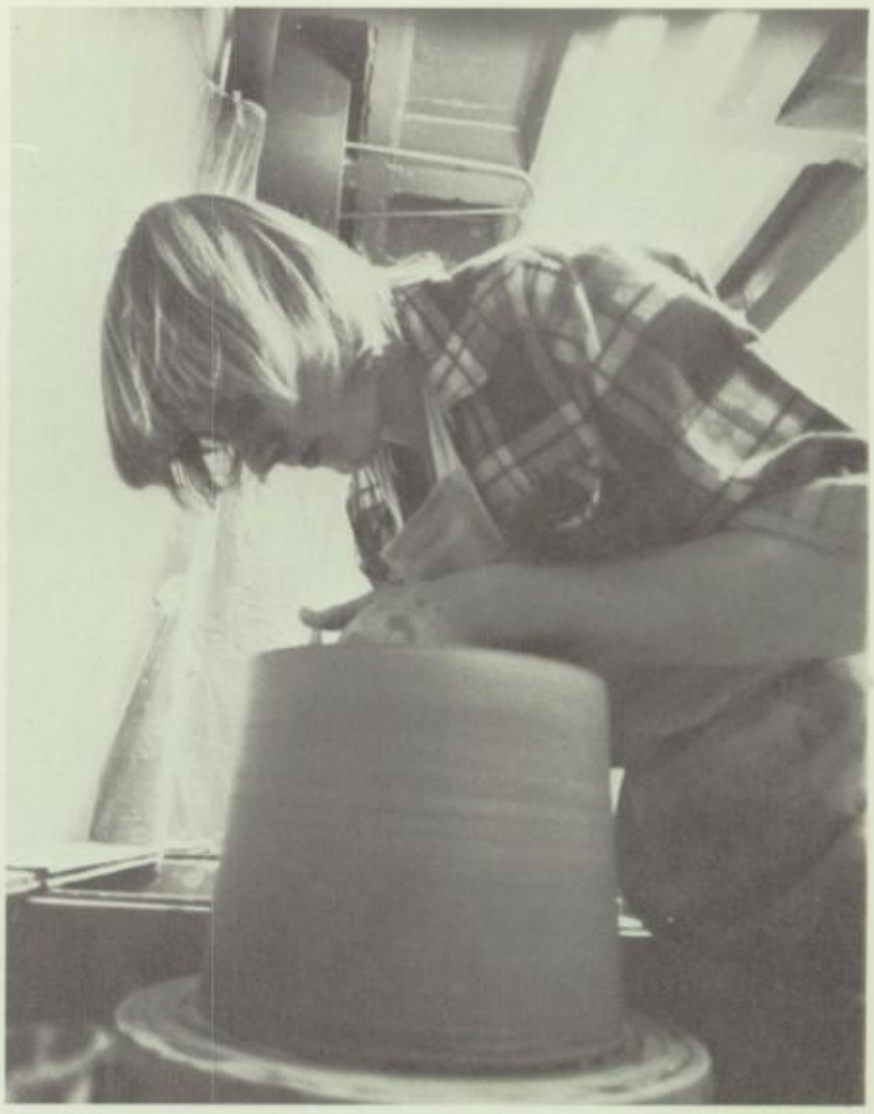
Cosmetology student, Gretchen Corll utilizes Vo-Tech opportunities.



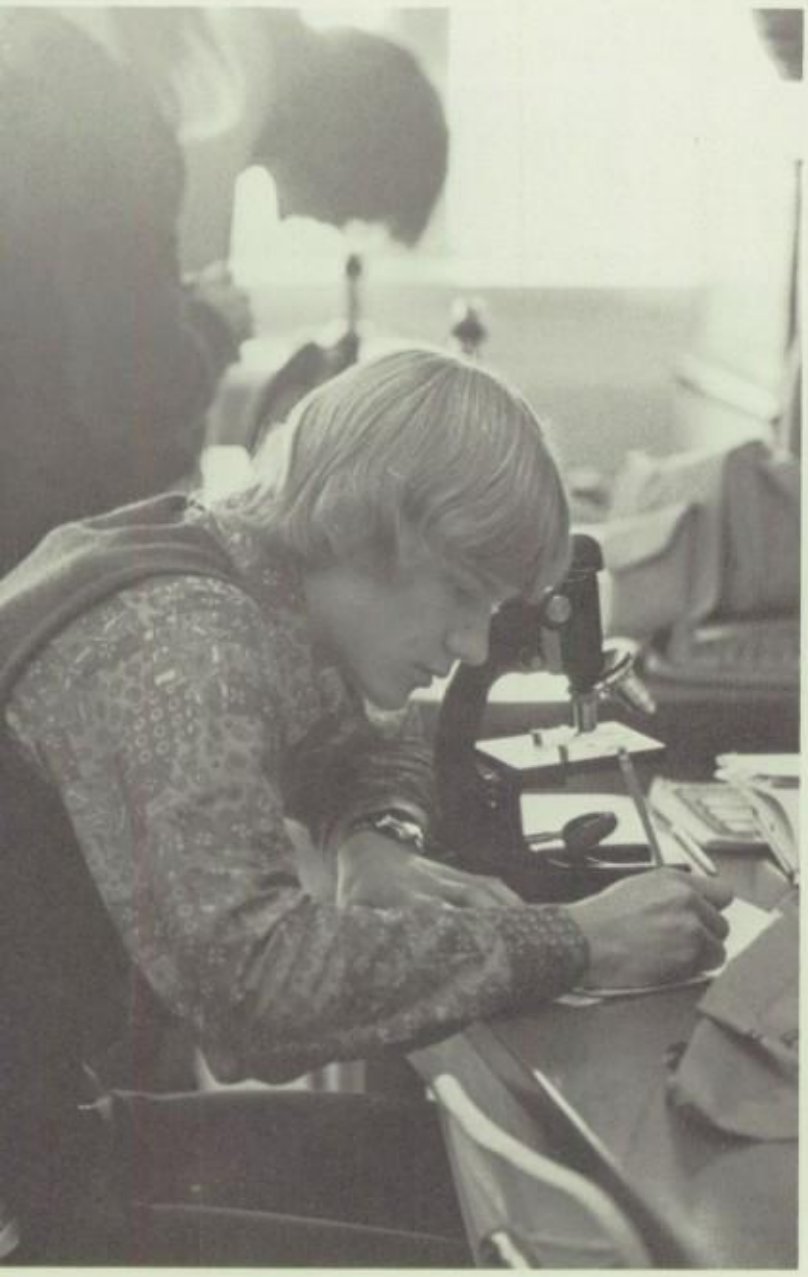
"Mr. Miller, now how do I get down?"

Rick Kifer never has the problem of getting into the wrong car.

Debbie Hauck adds unusual accessories to her outfit.



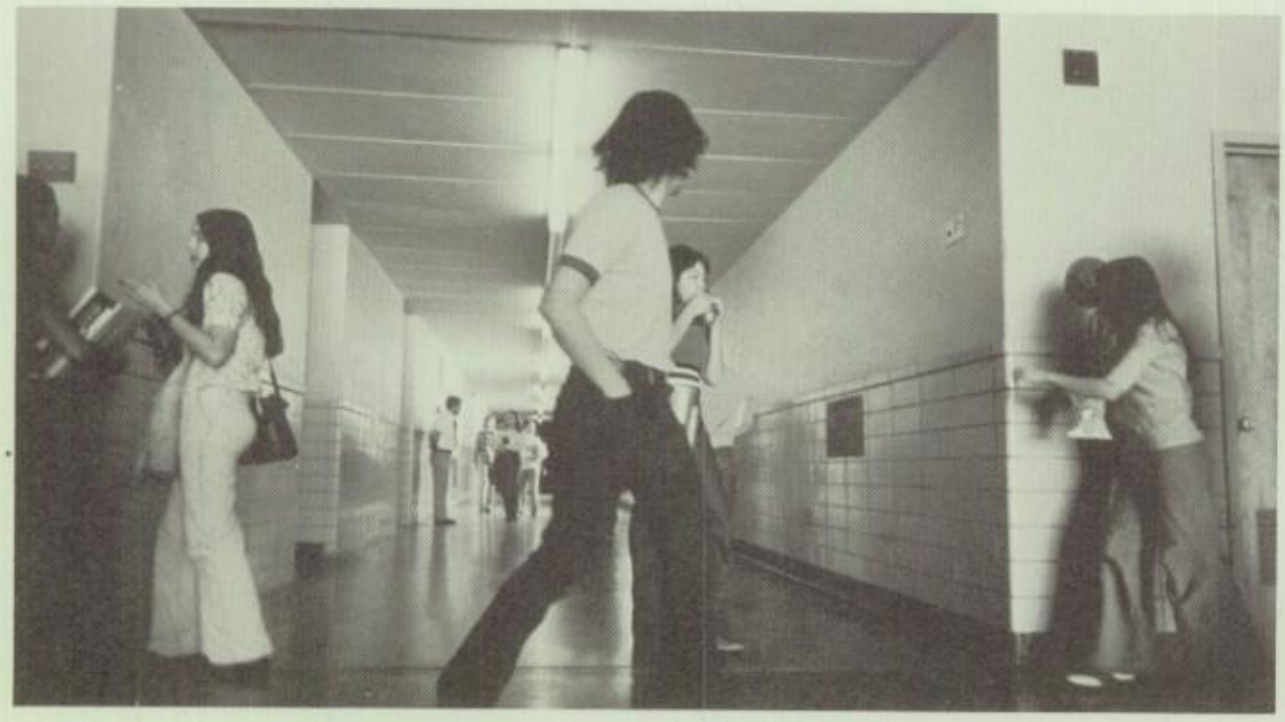
The potter's wheel aids Bernie Perdian's creativity.



Bob records his findings during a biology experiment.

Typing classes learn fingers move faster than mouths.

Once upon a time, Student Life was straight-laced, conservative, and rigidly ruled. But today it has become liberated with the times and now is socially informal. Instead of a totally accepted formal style of dress, students have adopted an individualistic air. From an overall point of view, the change has had both good and bad effects. Vandalism, such as broken windows and damaged property, has greatly increased. There has also been a loss of respect for teachers and administration. But more good has come about than bad! The new Student Life offers a wider variety of subjects, clubs, and sports to choose from. And because of a less formal atmosphere, students feel more inclined to learn and experiment without the fear of being wrong. Good or bad, one thing is certain, Student Life has definitely changed. And only with constant change, will Student Life live happily ever after.



Students take advantage of lunchtime privileges.

Academic Dream

Pencils with soft leaded hearts cry for Attention from loose-leaf notebooks.
Books, bathing in their knowledge,
Watch as dust particles
Dance in the spotlight
Of a sunbeam.

Floor and wall meet and kiss
Quietly in a corner. . . . . .
The security of a fan's soft Song suggests sleep.
Even the clock is dropping
Its hands in concession

And outside, busses line up
Like huge, yellow dinosaurs Waiting for an afternoon snack.
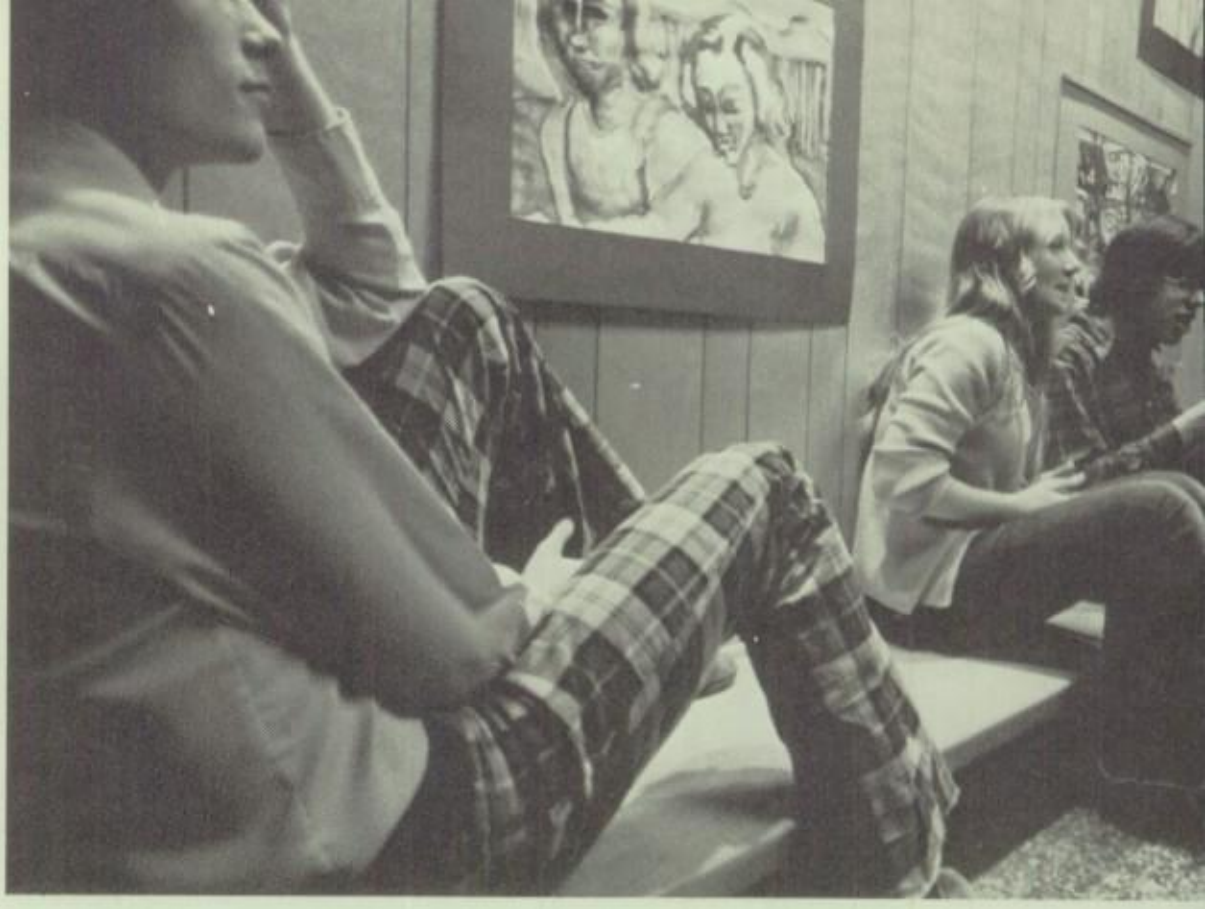
Soon a bell sounds a familiar tune
And classrooms exchange students
Like kids swapping bubble gum cards.
. . . . . .Tom Lane



A favorite gathering place, the art showcase seats many students.

Debbie Preston executes a split on the beam.

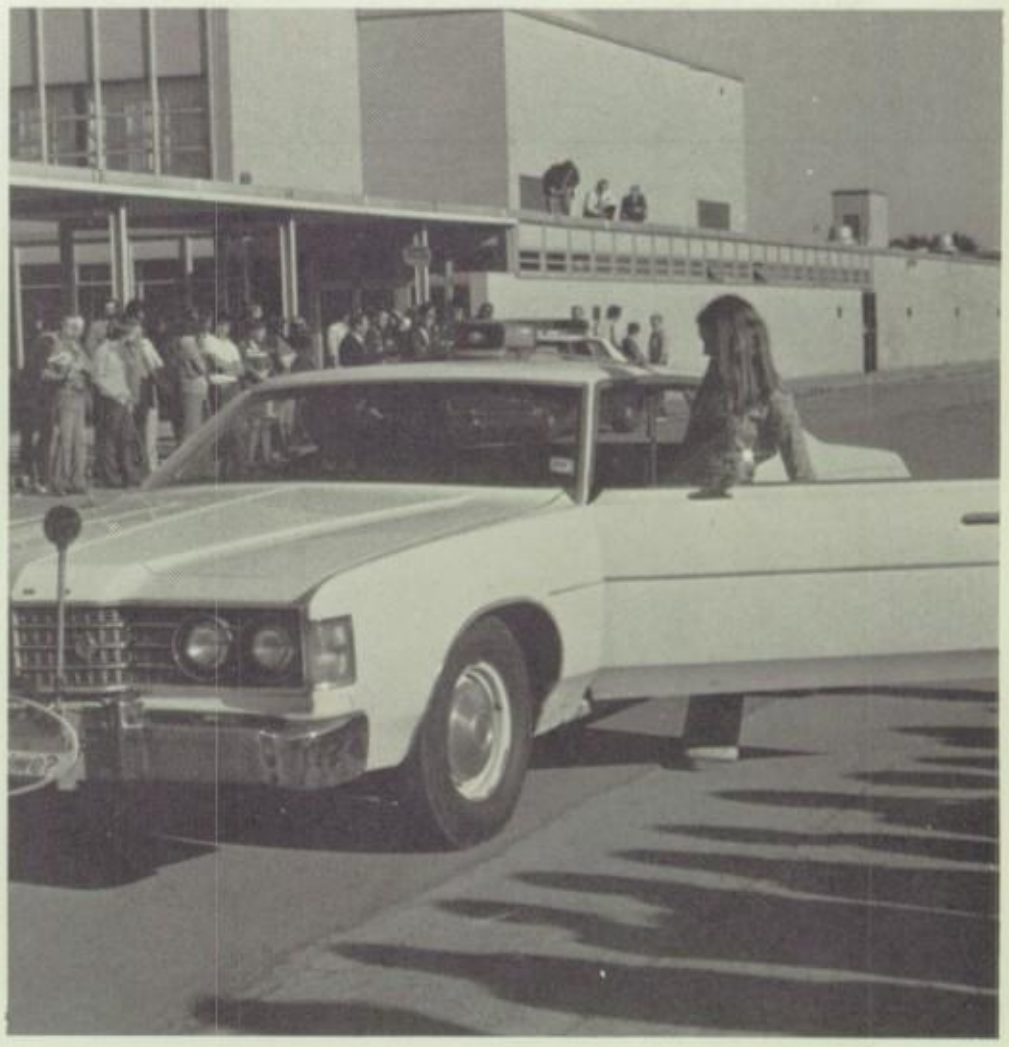
Boys relax during gym class.

This HHS coed stops to gather her books.

First chair clarinetist, Kim Sveda, rehearses with the concert band.

Ken Johnson exhibits his flair for art.

Mike may never be able to stand straight after the many hours he's spent working on The Leaf.

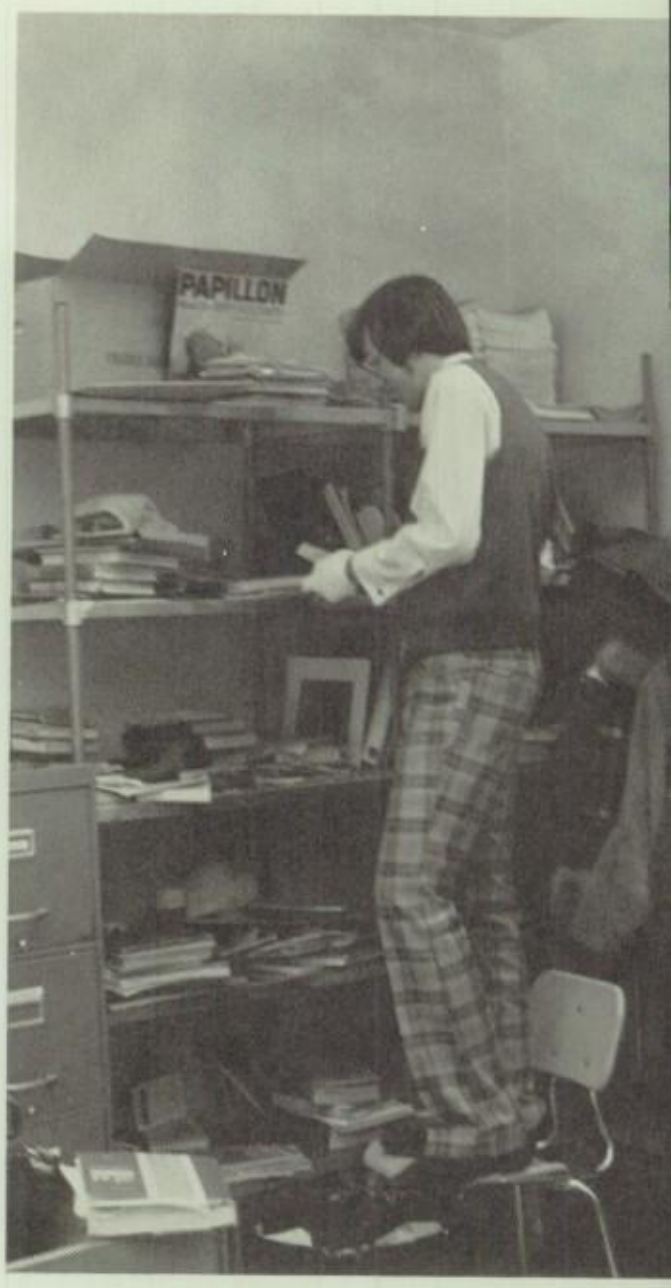


As part of the driving safety assembly, Lori Ammer prepares to demonstrate her skill at stopping.

Remember when:

Hickory was surprised by two new faces from Sweden and Mexico.
The girls worked with the guys to build the biggest bonfire ever.
The School Board okayed open dances after students signed petitions.
Sharpsville got trampled by the Hornettes on our way to the top.
Arsonists kept restrooms burning all year.
Hickory broke its tradition and didn't have a Christmas Ball.
At the Pep Assembly, Tim, Rick, and Crazy Rich became Pom-Pom Girls.
Clubs donated money to the Donny Love Memorial Fund.
Hickory Sr. High School had a broken-window epidemic.

Curt Dubay communicates with people around the world.



Housekeeping is Mike's job.

Gina runs the switchboard at lunchtime.

Students take out hostilities on each other.

Gunnar: A new experience

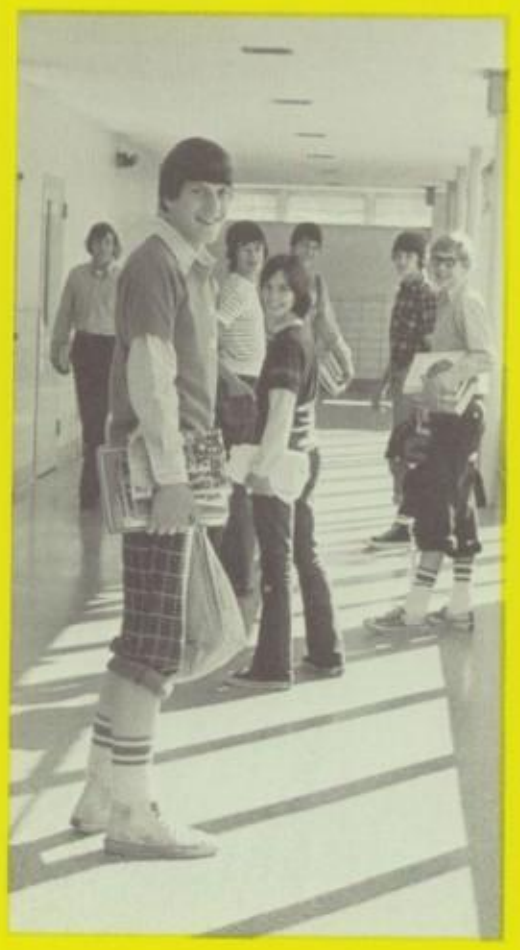
Spending one's senior year in a different country is quite an experience, as Gunnar Brinck, an exchange student from Boras, Sweden, realized. In Sweden the students' day began at either 8:00, 9:00 or 10:00 and was ended whenever he finished his schedule for the day. Classes varied from day to day and different schedules were used each week. In regard to the system of classes at Hickory it was like "tracking through mud" and he disliked it because "you always know what's going to come next."

Gunnar liked American music more than Swedish music. He did not like American food and noticed that we used more canned foods than Swedish cooks. Among the sports Americans participate in he enjoyed golfing and skiing.

Gunnar will go back to Sweden in July with hopes that his experience at Hickory will help shape his future.

Gunnar takes a rest during his studies.

Gunnar enjoys half-time at the basketball games.



Organizations

French Club

The main goal of the French Club was a trip to Quebec in the summer under the eyes of Mrs. Infield. During the monthly meetings, members brought in slides of France and learned interesting facts about the people in France. The club held bake sales, car washes, and sold candles to provide funds for their trip.

German Club

The members of German Club, aided by Mrs. Leyde, completed a year filled with activities. During the holidays they attended a Christmas dinner followed by a party. At lunch the club sold frankfurters with sauerkraut in order to build up its treasury. Wanting to learn more about the German language and the people who speak it, the German Club took a field trip to a replica of a German village.

Spanish Club

Candy bars and perfume sales made it possible for the Spanish Club to take a field trip to Pittsburgh. There, they toured the Sarah M. Scaife Art Gallery, the Carnegie Museum and the Nationality rooms at Pitt University. Retaining an annual tradition, the club honored its graduating seniors. A $50 bond presented to the top fourth-year Spanish student and a $25 dollar bond given to the top second-year Spanish senior.

Latin Club

The exceptional profits from the Latin Club's donut sales, have made it possible for the club to work on several projects. Latin Club donated money to various charities, including the Donny Love Fund. The club took a field trip and held a formal dinner at the end of the year. Remembering the purpose of their club, the members learned facts about Rome at their monthly meetings.

Math Club, advised by Mrs. Snyder, took field trips to Thiel College, where they visited the science and computer departments, and to Pittsburgh, where they toured a math laboratory. Their most important activity was introducing students to the metric system by holding a "Metric Week." Funds for the club were provided by selling cider and by the sale of pizza at home basketball games.

Science Club

Because of their interest in science and its benefits for man, Science Club members decided to truly live up to their name. All members were required to present a project relating to the field of science. The club, with Mr. Schiava's help, also sold pizza during lunchtime. A field trip to a science institute was made possible by the money they earned.

Thespian Guild

Instead of the usual try-outs for membership, the Thespian Guild decided on something different. Four acting workshops open to all students were held. At Christmas the Guild presented four plays to the elementary schools. They also performed the Christmas plays at the Crippled Children's Center. The club is advised by Mrs. Alyce Parrish.

Library Club

The Library Club, advised by Mr. Hazi, did several projects throughout the year. Despite a lack of funds, the members held a Christmas party and gave money to various charities. The most important charity to which the club gave was to Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh. Also, a workshop was held for students to learn more about the functions of the library.

Varsity-H

This year's Varsity-H, an organization for anyone lettering in a varsity sport, was advised by Mr. Bestwick. They sponsored the traditional All-Sports Banquet at the end of the year. They made money by having a 50-50 raffle and by selling candy at the football concession stand. They also sold Hickory jackets. Perhaps their most enjoyable money-making project was the Donkey-Basketball Game.

Pep Club

Initiating school spirit was Pep Club's main objective. Under the guidance of Mr. Smargiasso, the club worked on many projects. Along with cheering at games, a banquet was held in honor of the girls' basketball team. The members also tried something new. In order to be more unified, they ordered Pep Club jackets. This year's Pep Club was small in numbers, but big in school spirit.

Bleacher Bums

The Bleacher Bums were the newest club this year. Beginning with a group of guys who wanted to support the athletic teams, the club progressed to a loud cheering section complete with "Bleacher Bum" shirts and hats. Their spirited performances were also enhanced with the aid of a flag and bugle. Mr. Kornbau was the club's advisor.

Senior Tri-Hi-Y

Senior Tri-Hi-Y actively participated in Operation Thanksgiving sponsored by the YMCA. Other activities of the year were Christmas caroling at the hospitals, and they also sponsored a Sweetheart Ball benefit for the Heart Fund. The group, with the help of Mrs. Leyde, have fostered a child from Taiwan for the past two years.

Student Council

Being representatives of the student body meant a great deal of responsibility for the Student Council this year. They held the elections of the classes and okayed the clubs' constitutions. One of their largest achievements was the initiation of the open door policy at the dances. Advised by Mr. Habel, the members also worked to put on the Homecoming Dance and collected money for the Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh.

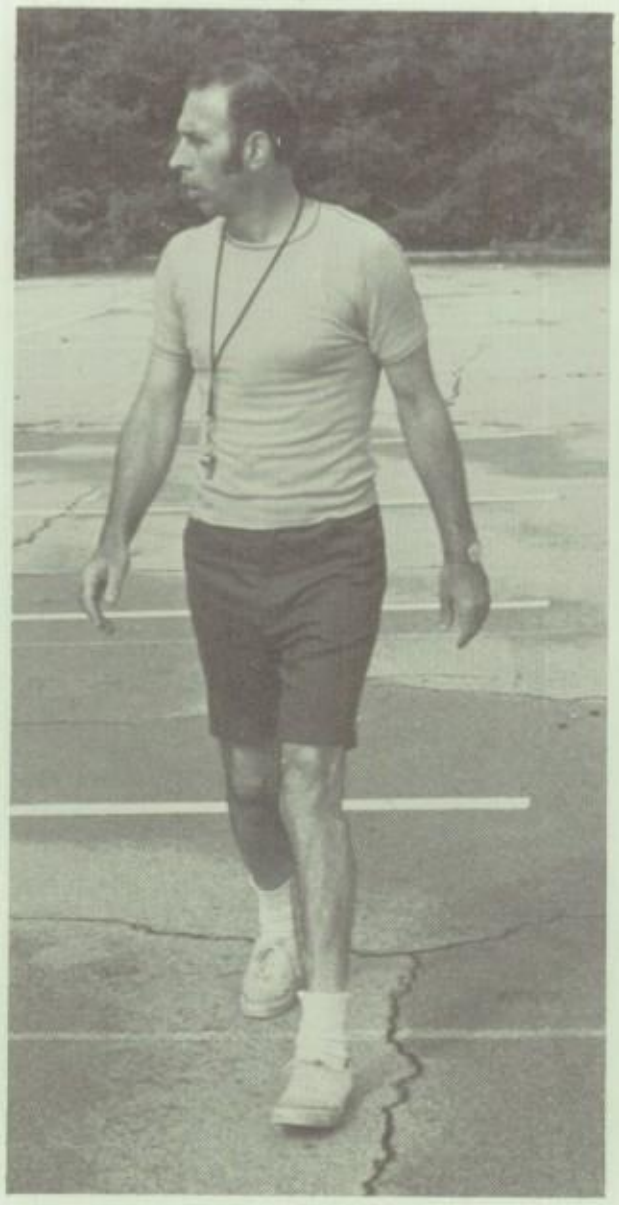
Marching Band

The 1974-75 Hornet Marching Band began this year's season with a week of all-day band camp in August. Mr. Philip Kulusich was assisted this summer by Mr. Robert Bidel, music director at Kennedy Christian High School. With the first kickoff of the season, the band got things together and performed its first show at home against Franklin. The band also entertained crowds away from home. Band members traveled to Greenville, Oil City, and Sharpsville. The Hornet Marching Band also participated in the Memorial Day, The United Fund, and the UNICEF parades. This year's band consisted of approximately eighty-five musicians and nine majorettes.



Mr. Kulusich turns drill instructor as he views the band.

A unison of music and manuevers is essential for band members.

Majorettes

Beginning with practice sessions in June, the 1974-75 majorette squad worked through the summer ending with band camp in August. Highlights of their season were initiations, pep assemblies, and new uniforms. This year the majorettes concentrated on variety in their halftime performances. They demonstrated ability at twirling fire, hoop, and flag batons. Their work has helped entertain sport lovers at halftime.

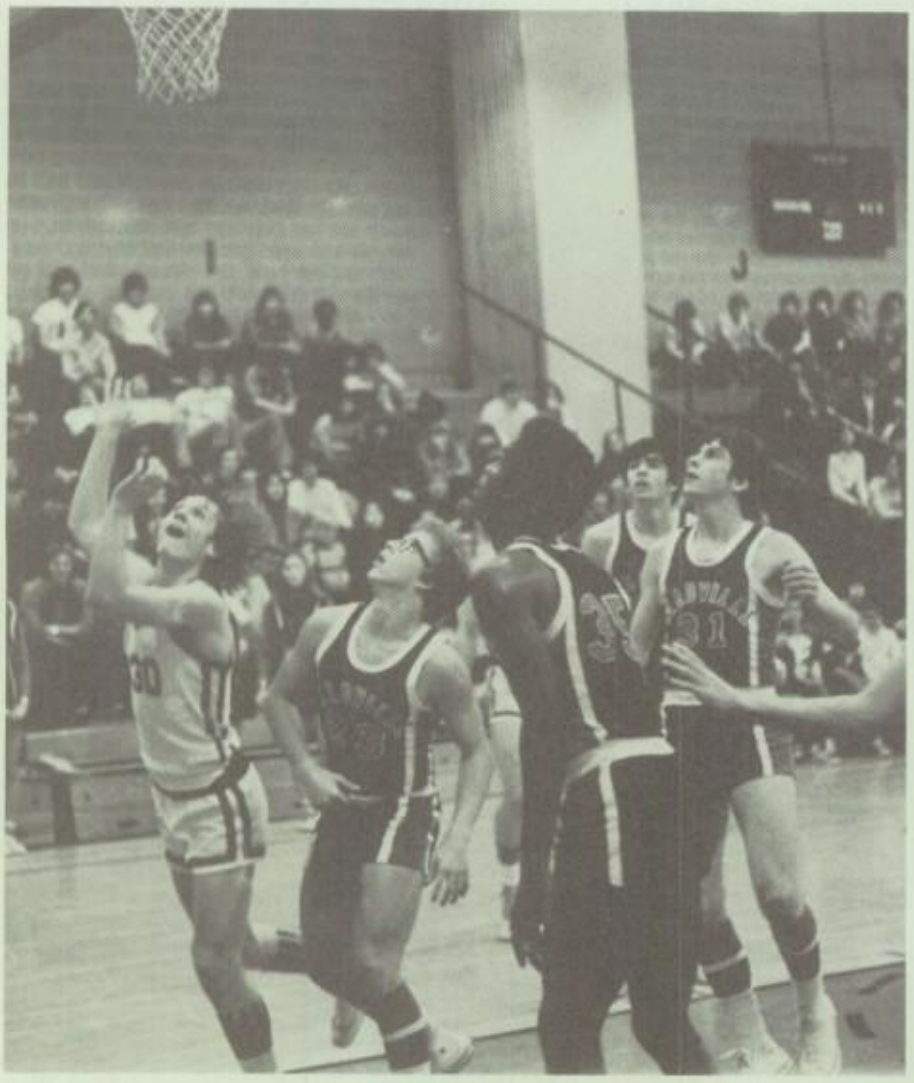
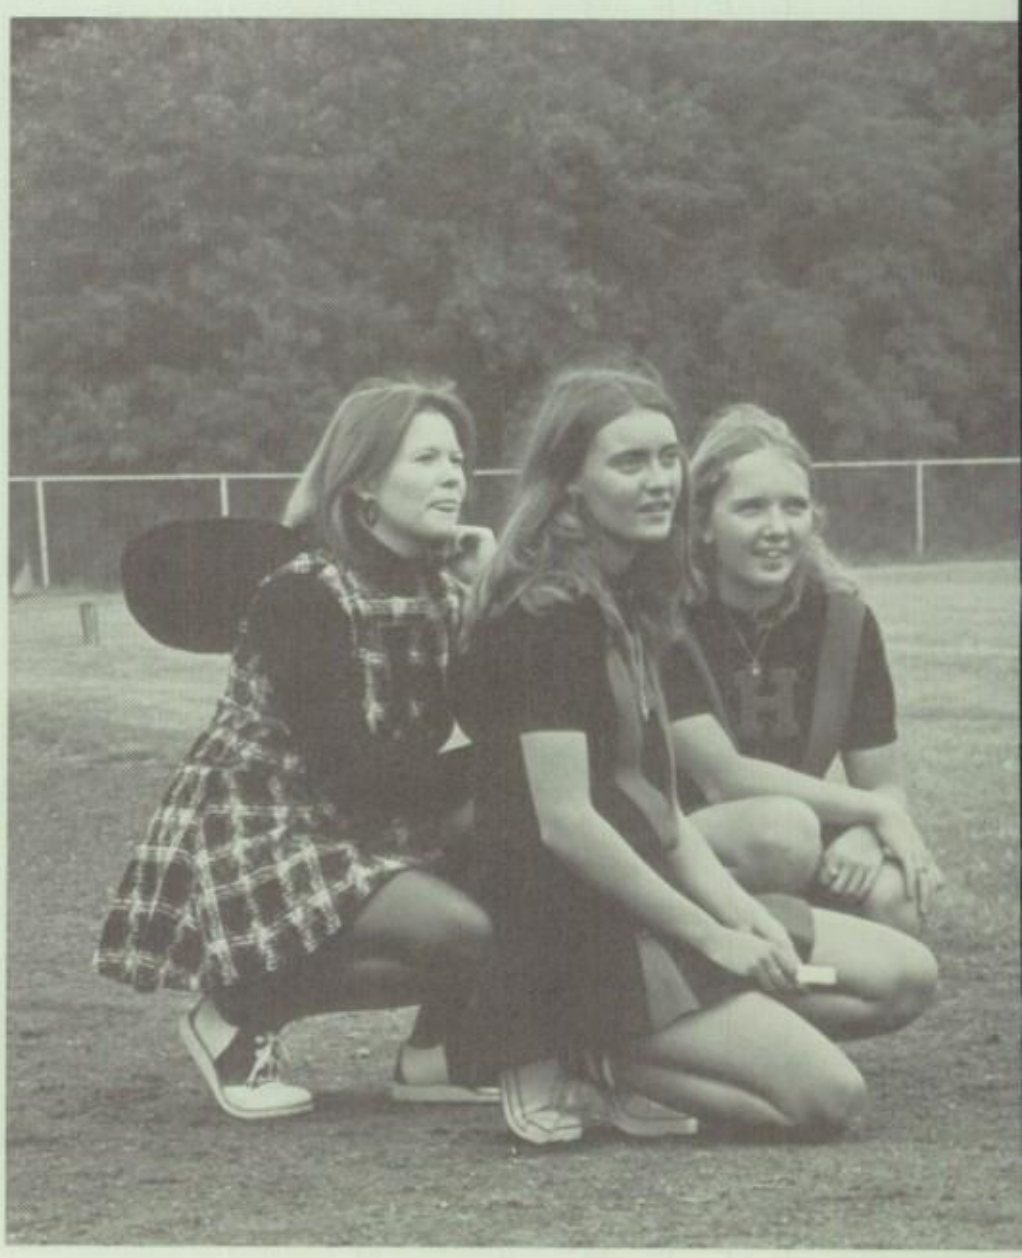
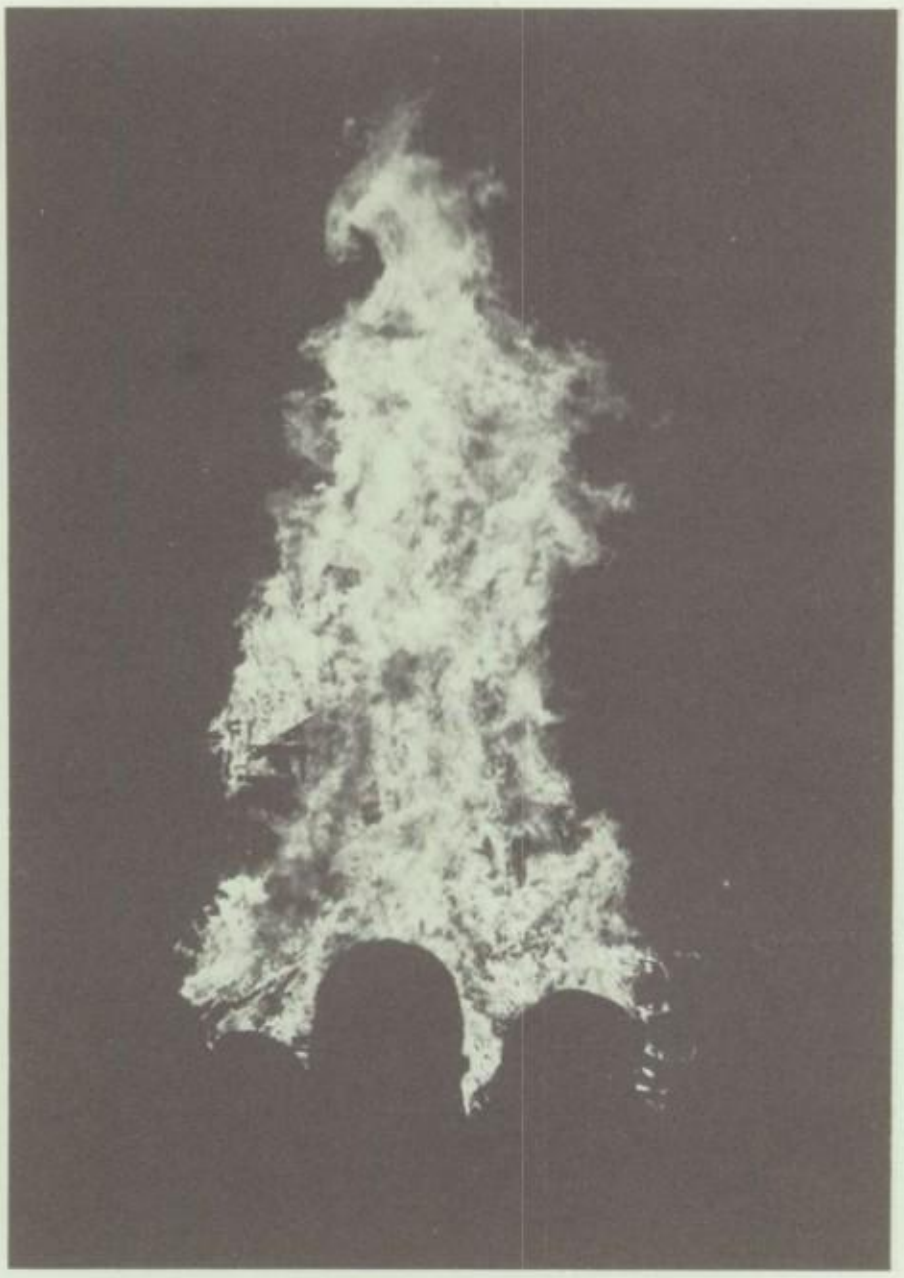
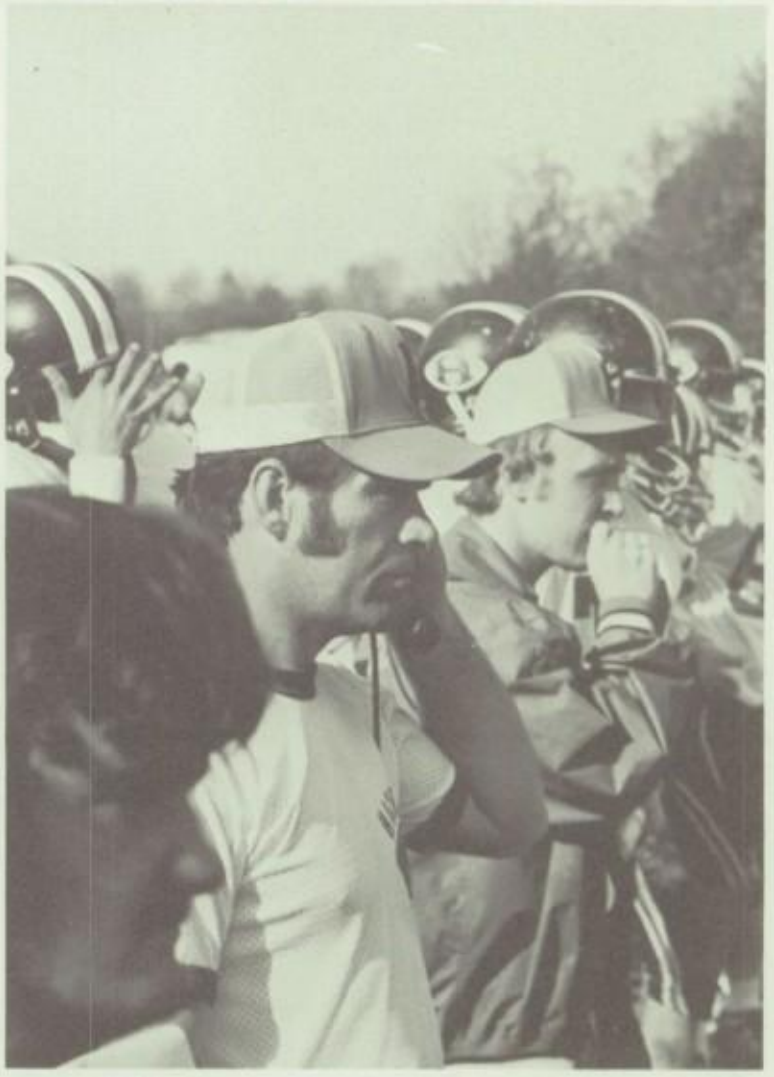
Hopeful

I hope I passed Trig! I hope I get asked to the Homecoming! I wish this class would get over with! These are some of the hopes and wishes of students at Hickory. But all students hope to get something out of school, whether it's an A, or a good time. Teachers and administrators hope for the best for us and we students also hope for the best. Even though our thoughts might contradict themselves, we all hope for fond memories of our lives at Hickory High School. We hope our work and our fun has a meaningful effect on our lives and will make us well-rounded individuals. And most importantly, we want to be able to look back on our four years at Hickory, not only with nostalgia, but with a sense of achievement.









Outstanding achievers

The excitement of a beauty pageant and the fun in meeting new friends has made Leann Bleakney's senior year very special.

After winning the title of Miss Mercer County, she went on to state competition. There, Leann was named Miss Teen-Age Brookville and won an expense paid trip to the Miss Teen-Age America Pageant held in Little Rock, Arkansas. All contestants were required to take a scholastic achievement test and were also judged on poise, sincerity, individuality, and talent. On Thanksgiving morning, Leann was selected as one of the eight semifinalists. This allowed her to compete on nationwide television. In front of approximately 40 million viewers, she sang a selection from "Fiddler on the Roof."

When she returned home, Leann stated, "I gained a lot of new friends from Maine to Hawaii, and an experience I will treasure forever."

Actress Sally Fields looks on as an overjoyed Leann is announced a semi-finalist.

Hard work, determination and victory are familiar parts of Karen Krichko's life. In 1973, she won the Junior Olympic gold medal in the high jump after clearing 5'6". In her words, "It was a dream I thought would never come true."

Karen first became interested in high jumping when she was a sophomore. In the two years that have followed, Karen has emerged as a top jumper. She now spends five days a month at the University of Boston with a special coach. Karen has qualified for the national tryouts for the Olympics in 1976. In her honor, April 9 was set as "Karen Krichko Day." Miss Ward, girls' track coach, stated, "Karen is a gifted athlete and with the support and encouragement of her teammates she has been able to excel."

Karen jumps during a local meet as she prepares for her national debut.

WALSWORTH
Marceline, Mo., U.S.A.

"Wow!"

m glad spot off that sage! There a lot mo roman on this one. You lucky devil you! You only have one more year in this raunchy old shit hole. I'll let you in on a little secret chompin at the bit to get out of here. Well all a can say is make the most of your senior year, don't let those ceremonies all your blackouts, hours and hours and dont give them an essence to hard-ass members of the faculty, and administration get you for one little thing! Dont see you in concert choir.
il ya. See ya next year. P.S. I'll make it. Love & Peace.
(what ever that means)

Kevin Daly

"P.P."

Linda
to a really sweet and not bute person I had the pleasure to know for a while. Remember all the fun times we have together. Good luck with everything you do. I hope Ray does good.
Love
Patty

Linda,
What can I say, there is so much we can remember, namely dancing, watching one person, and Moth class here we talk of everything and more! Remember - homuary - B.H" Mr. Jones and all the things he did. Maybe one day we'll be working together in the "math professions".
Good luck in all you do!
R.M.A.
Love,
Lynne

Linda,
To someone that had to survive Hall and stupid study hall with that wild gym class with me this year. Stay as nice as you are! (Tell Ray I said hi!)
Good luck
Love,
Carol

Linda,
To a very pretty girl in a couple of my classes. Remember all the fun we had cuttin' up you know who. Stay the same as you are and have lots of fun ~~in~~ with Rae.
Hope to see you next year - in math class!

Lynda, to a very sweet, pretty friend. Miss
Never Forget Jones Stupid Cupid has struck you have good luck Ruth Rae for lots more prizes for him.

See you next year. (I hope)
Cindy

Lynda, can make what I was and I made a decision only of pencil
I thought you it kind of weird good & good kind of - be you to go to Miami Beach pick you up a picture to put in Hope you
Lynda it
Love
